

PRESIDENT SPEAKS IN CINCINNATI

CONVICTED STRIKE LEADERS ADMITTED TO BOND FIRST TIME

Beal And Companions Found Guilty In Murder Trial

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 22.—The fresh opened spaces beckoned today to Fred Erwin Beal, leader of the Gastonia strike and his six aides, convicted of second degree murder in connection with the murder of Police Chief O. F. Aderholt, for the first time since they were incarcerated five months ago.

The international labor defense announced that it would put up bond for the seven sometime today. The amounts of the bonds were fixed by Judge M. V. Barnhill, late yesterday pending the disposal of their cases by the state supreme court, to which the defense counsel gave notice of appeal for a new trial.

It was the first time that bond was allowed the self-styled martyrs since they were arrested following the slaying of Aderholt on June 7, when he led a police raid upon the National Textile Workers Union at Gastonia to quell a reported disturbance. They were held on a capital charge, until the state reduced the degree of murder against them at the beginning of their latest trial.

A jury composed of middle-aged farmers returned a verdict of guilty in the second degree yesterday afternoon after an hour's deliberation, preceded by a two-hour charge from Judge Barnhill.

There was no demonstration in the courtroom as the three-week-old trial came to an end, although twenty uniformed policemen made an appearance in the crowd a few minutes before the verdict was announced.

Beal and three other "foreigners" received the heaviest of the sentences from Judge Barnhill. Beal, who was southern organizer for the N. T. W. U., Clarence Miller, of New York, an organizer for the young pioneers, a communist, and Joseph Harrison, of Passaic, N. J., who was wounded in the melee that claimed Aderholt's life, and George Carter, 23, of Mississipp, N. J., each got from seven to twenty years imprisonment on the murder charge. They received sentences of ten years each on a charge of assault growing out of the wounding of Police Chief T. A. Gilbert in the same affray, but the sentence will run concurrently.

K. Y. Hendricks, 27, a native of the Appalachians, got from five to seven years; W. M. McGinnis, 26, of Rutherfordton, N. C., and Louis McLaughlin, 28, Lancaster, S. C., from twelve to fifteen years each. They all received lesser sentences for assaulting Gilbert, but they too will run concurrently. Bond for Beal, Harrison, Carter and Miller was set at $5,000 each; McGinnis and McLaughlin, $2,500, and Hendricks, $2,000.

ASK INDICTMENTS IN STRIKE DISORDER

GASTONIA, N. C., Oct. 22.—Two cases growing out of the Gastonia strike and subsequent anti-communist reign of terror, will be presented to the Gaston County grand jury today.

Nine overseers of the Loray mill, are charged with manslaughter in the mob murder of Mrs. Ella May Wiggin, a mother of five.

Seven more "bosses" are charged with flogging Ben Wells, British strike organizer, and kidnapping two other organizers. They have already been tried and acquitted in Cabarrus County, where the flogging occurred.

However, as the men were kidnapped here, similar charges were placed against them in Gaston County.

ORDER INDICATES GRAF TO MAKE TRIP

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Renewed confidence in the Graf Zepplin's projected trip to the north pole was seen today in an order from Secretary Good to Major General John L. Hines, commander of the Ninth Corps Area, at San Francisco, to extend every courtesy and facility to the Zepplin. The dirigible is expected to stop at Fairbanks, Alaska, in that corps area, to refuel on its Arctic flight in April and May, 1930.

Good's order was sent at the request of Secretary of State Stimson.

GIRL HITCH-HIKER DETAINED BY COPS

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 22.—A girl, who said she was Miss Emma Strovilla, 23, of Rochester, Lorain County, Ohio, was being held by police here awaiting word from the girl's relatives at Rochester.

COALITION MOVES TO RAISE AGRICULTURE TARIFF SCHEDULES

TAX REDUCTION FOR DECEMBER SESSION PROPOSED IN HOUSE

Treasury To Stand $300,000,000 Cut Is Reported

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Congressional action in the regular December session on a $200,000,000 to $300,000,000 tax reduction bill appeared probable today as both Republican and Democratic leaders on the house ways and means committee indicate their support of the movement.

Rep. Hawley (R) of Oregon, chairman of the committee, declared "the presumption is that there will be tax reduction in the coming session," while Rep. Gardner (D) of Texas, ranking minority member, asserted the treasury should stand a $300,000,000 slash.

Hawley planned an early conference with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, who has already indicated the treasury will recommend a tax cut.

"I favor first consideration of a reduction of the corporation income tax in any tax bill," said Hawley. "The millions of individuals who receive returns from corporations must pay a tax through the corporations much higher than the individual income tax rate. A reduction is necessary if tax burdens are to be equalized."

This program also favored by Garner, who advocates a cut in the corporation rate from 12 to 10 per cent, amounting to $200,000,000 a year.

Hawley also announced that experts of the joint congressional committee on taxation are studying the estate tax, but declined to comment pending their report. He is not ready to announce a stand on earned income slashes.

Garner's program includes raising the credit for earned income from 25 to 33 1/3 per cent to aid the salaried man, as well as removing the present limit of $20,000 within which the benefit applies. He would raise individual exemptions for single men from $1,500 to $2,000; married men, $3,500 to $4,000; dependents $400 to $500.

POLICE ARE PROBING MURDER OF LONARDO

CLEVELAND, Oct. 22.—Two theories were being traced to their roots by police investigators here today in an effort to solve the murder of Frank Lonardo, one time "silent partner" in the corn sugar business racket here, whose body was riddled with eight bullets while sitting at a card table Sunday night.

One theory is that Lonardo was slain in reprisal for the murder last June of Salvatore (Black Sam) Todaro, who, according to police opinion, was responsible for the killings of Frank's brothers, "Big Joe" and John Lonardo, two years ago.

The second theory is that Lonardo was killed because of his failure to pay off certain gambling debts which he had contracted.

Police are inclined to favor the first theory as the solution of the murder.

ACCUSE RICH WOMAN OF FRAMING HOLD-UP

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—After losing $18,000 in jewels and her $2,500 milk coat in a holdup, Mrs. Laura Price, 38, wife of a millionaire, today was under arrest on suspicion of fraud.

She admitted to authorities that the robbery last February was a sham and was planned by two jewelers and herself, police say.

Mrs. Price collected on a $20,500 insurance policy, sold the gems and divided with her co-conspirators, police say she admitted on questioning last night.

She told police that the plot was inspired by Morris A. Barnett, brother of the proprietor of an exclusive Chicago jewelry house, Barnett, according to her admissions, procured the services of Ben Levin and Jack Baum to act the robber roles. Max Krakow, a jeweler, was involved in her admissions. All four men are in custody also.

FIVE EXECUTED IN RUSSIAN PLOT

RIGA, Oct. 22.—Following the Ogup's (Soviet secret police) discovery of a plot to weaken the Soviet army and industries and thus pave the way for a counter-revolutionary movement, five former generals in the Russian army were summarily executed, a Moscow dispatch received here today stated.

Both Groups Reject Thomas Plan; Attack 1922 Level

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Confident they can rewrite the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill for the benefit of agriculture, leaders of the Democratic-Progressive Republican coalition of the senate today threw their machine into high speed with the expectation of passing the Hawley-Smoot bill within a month.

Not only will they boost the tariff schedules on agricultural products as fixed by the house and senate finance committee and lower the industrial rates, but they also will attack the level of industrial rates fixed in the Fordney-McCumber tariff act of 1922, leaders announced.

The new policy—to attack the tariff level set in the 1922 act—was evolved from the coalition's demonstration of absolute power to take tariff legislation entirely away from the administration.

The last thrust at tariff legislation as a whole, made by Sen. Thomas (D) of Oklahoma, who proposed to strike all but agricultural rates from the bill, was brushed aside by both regulars and the coalition, on the ground that the senate wants to enact tariff legislation.

"The proceedings in the consideration of administrative schedules has shown that there the power exists to enact rates which reflect the sentiment of the senate as a whole, which the bill drafted by the finance committee does not do," said Sen. Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader.

"It is more important to reduce some of the high industrial rates of the 1922 law which operate against agriculture, than to limit tariff legislation to agriculture," said Senator Norris (R), Nebraska, in announcing the plan to attack the Fordney-McCumber bill.

"It is reasonable to suppose we will be able to ward off any of the excessive rates carried in the present bill," said Sen. Simmons (D) of North Carolina, minority leader of the finance committee. The senate began work on the chemical schedules today, with members of the coalition prepared to attack increases which they declare benefit the "dye trust" of the country unnecessarily.

BOTH CLEMENCEAU AND POINCARRE ARE REPORTED BETTER

"Tiger" Has Passed Crisis; Now Able to Sit Up

PARIS, Oct. 22.—France's anxiety over the condition of her two leaders, Georges Clemenceau and Raymond Poincarre, lessened slightly today.

The "grand old man" of France, today was believed to be on the safe side of a crisis brought on by a sudden, severe heart attack.

M. Poincarre, who yesterday underwent a second operation made necessary by the illness which forced him to resign from the premiership last July, today was making satisfactory progress.

The grim battle put up by M. Clemenceau against the effects of the heart attack yesterday was typical of the many political battles he had fought and won during his long and stormy career.

The attack was so severe that attending physicians administered oxygen five times and further thought it necessary to administer an injection of camphor to stimulate the 88 year old statesman's heart.

MISSIONARY MEET

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 22.—The national convention of the women's foreign missionary society of the Methodist Episcopal Church, opened here today and will continue through to October 30, with an expected attendance of 2,500.

Five hundred of these women who will gather here will be of the foreign missionary department from every inhabited part of the globe.

EMPIRE AIR CIRCUS WILL INAUGURATE THREE-DAY EXHIBITION WEDNESDAY

EDISON IS RESTING FROM EXCITING DAY OF WORLD TRIBUTE

WIZARD OVERCOME BY EMOTIONAL STRAIN OF GREAT DAY

DEARBORN, Mich., Oct. 22.—Thomas A. Edison rested in the home of Henry Ford today that he might regain the strength he lost during an exciting day in which the world honored the 82-year-old inventor of the incandescent light.

The entire world paid him tribute last night and the pageantry arranged for the occasion proved too much for his waning strength. Events of the day, participated in by President Hoover, Henry Ford and John D. Rockefeller, Jr. left him in a state of emotional exhaustion.

When he arose at the banquet table last night his voice faltered; tears dimmed his eyes as he spoke falteringly to the many notables who had gathered to pay him honor.

"I am told that my voice tonight will reach to the four corners of the world. This gives me an unusual opportunity to express the appreciation I feel for the honor that has been paid me. I would be more than honored if you also are honoring me by trying to talk from me in honoring me you also are honoring that vast army of thinking men who have done much for the progress of the world in the past," he said.

Einstein was trying to talk from Germany, the Prince of Wales from London and Hyrd from the South Pole. Their voices were quite audible but the aged inventor could not hear. He broke down in visible emotion and was led from the banquet table by Dr. Joel T. Boone, the president's physician.

JUDGE WRATH USES WRATH

Heavy Sentences Imposed By Jurist With Angry Name; Cuts Crime

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Oct. 22.—Bandit careers of two "hard-boiled" guys, Trueheart Lawson, 26, and Jack Bell, 33, today had been ended by a typical "wrath sentence."

Lawson and Bell, who were convicted of a filling station robbery were also identified as bandits who held up and robbed the Community Savings and Loan Bank at Charleston but county authorities here refused to turn the pair over to Charleston police, preferring to prosecute them here and obtain the "wrath" cure.

When a common pleas court jury deliberated ten minutes and found both guilty, Judge H. Clay Wrath sentenced each to forty-five years in the state prison.

EXPECT FALL TRIAL WILL REACH JURORS IN CASE WEDNESDAY

Defense Attorney Presents Argument Tuesday

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The Fall bribery trial jury today will hear a story of super-patriotism, and of mellow friendship.

With only a few hours intervening before the jury takes the case and renders a verdict on whether the $100,000 Former Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall got from E. L. Doheny, the oil magnate, was a bribe for the leasing of the Elk Hills naval oil reserve, Frank J. Hogan, chief defense counsel, dusted off his now familiar spellbinder and prepared for an all-day argument. It is possible the case may go to the jury this afternoon, but more likely it will be tomorrow.

All day yesterday, the four women and eight men of the jury heard former Senator Alice Pomerene, of Ohio, denounce Fall as a corrupt official and Doheny as a sharpshooter, but today Hogan will portray a pair of old friends who prospered and endured hardships together back in the gold rush days, the one who became wealthy gladly loaning the other a mere pittance of his wealth in time of need.

Doheny, who counts his millions by the score, looks upon $100,000 as the man of the street would regard $25. He will aver, and the loaning of that amount to Fall had nothing to do with the leasing of the Elk Hills reserve.

ATTORNEY MAY HALT BEQUEST OF HUBERT

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—A Chicago attorney, Donald E. Malkes, today was planning an injunction to prevent Calvin Coolidge, Julius Rosenwald and Alfred E. Smith from disposing of an $8,000,000 charity bequest of the late Conrad Hubert, flashlight magnate.

Malkes announced that as soon as he receives a copy of the record of inheritance he will go to New York and file the injunction suit in surrogate court. The basis of his suit, he said, will be a charge of mental incompetency on the part of Hubert when he made the will.

According to Malkes, whose father was Hubert's cousin, Hubert was known as an eccentric. He refused to see either his sister or brother in New York, Malkes said. Malkes also is acting for his sister, Mrs. Ruth Singer of Los Angeles, and hopes to get a portion of the estate for her as well as himself.

HOOVER DEDICATES PIONEER MONUMENT FOR RIVER OPENING

Congratulates Ohio Valley In Finish Of Improvement

CINCINNATI, Oct. 22.—"A new agency of service now begins its quiet labors for mankind."

Thus simply, before a great crowd gathered today in Eden Park, did President Hoover today signalize the opening of the Ohio River to first class traffic from Pittsburgh to the Mississippi. It marked an event which the people of the Ohio River valley have long anticipated and hoped for.

The president spoke in Cincinnati just before boarding a river steamer for a leisurely journey down the Ohio River to Louisville where, tomorrow night, he will inform the country more completely as to his policies for inland waterways development.

Cincinnati, the Queen City of Ohio, commemorated the complete opening of the river by dedicating a monument to the pioneers in the development of the stream.

The president was welcomed to the city by a small committee headed by Oscar F. Barrett, president of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association and city officials and was taken to the Gibson Hotel prior to going to Eden Park for the dedication of a monument.

The streets from the station to the hotel were lined with people. "It is great pleasure to me to share in the dedication of this monument glorifying for all time the completion of a nine-foot channel for the full length of the Ohio River," the president said.

"The engineering mind, about which I see so much in the news papers here does come to surface and luxuriates in appreciation of a great engineering job well done. This new instrument of commerce from which untold blessings will come year after year, is an enduring monument to those of my own profession whose lives are spent in devising means to increase the comfort and convenience of the world."

"But men of every mold have wrought with equal bravery in this transformation of the wild beauty of the Ohio River into the not less beautiful but more tractable stream of today. The engineer found the political means, but many others contributed to the vision, courage and persistence needed to this accomplishment."

"Statements rivermen, and businessmen may share the glory. The elders present may well regret the absence of such stalwart figures as Col. William E. Merrill, and Captain William B. Rogers, whose ingenuity and dauntless faith bore so large a part of this achievement."

"I personally feel deeply the absence of Senator Theodore Burton, (of Ohio), at whose bedside in Washington I have recently stood. His work as chairman of the historic inland waterways commission, appointed by President Roosevelt in 1907, gave the foundation upon which this great development has been erected. The report of that commission in 1908 has been the bible of waterways improvement. Its first result was the act of 1910, with which began the present project, now brought to successful conclusion. It reflected not only the clarity mind with which the senator has endowed public issues for a generation, but also the broad humanity of his spirit, that dwelt with special concern upon the problems of equity involved and upon the welfare of the whole body of men and women of the country for whose benefit the program was primarily taken."

PICK-POCKET SHOT DURING ARGUMENT

CLEVELAND, Oct. 22.—An argument over the division of pick-pocket spoils was believed by police today to have been the cause of the wounding of Isadore Silverman, who is said to be known by police of seven cities.

Silverman was shot, according to detectives, by William Feldman, his alleged pick-pocket partner. The shooting took place in front of a smoke shop here. Both men are reported to have criminal records and are known to police of Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, New York, Newark and Brooklyn.

FAMOUS "IRON MAN" M'GINNITY IS ILL

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Joe McGinnity, 58, original "Iron Man" of baseball, was near death today at his home in Brooklyn, having failed to rally after an operation for the removal of a tumor three weeks ago.

McKinnity earned the title of "iron man" for his great durability on the mound, often pitching both games of a double-header.

Give Joint Recital

MISS Mildred Mason, Xenia, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. B. Mason, Wilmington Pike, will be presented in a joint recital by the dramatic art department of the Proctor School of Music, Dayton, at the Christ church Parish House Thursday evening, November 7, at 8 o'clock.

The program will be augmented with musical selections presented by pupils in the music department of the school. Both Mrs. Mason and Miss Mason are well-known locally because of their talents in dramatic art, readings and public speaking programs. Both have appeared frequently in local dramatic productions and as entertainers before public and semi-public audiences and have gained wide approval for their abilities in the channel of dramatic expression.

Mrs. Mason has also been heard over the radio on the weekly Grange hour from Station WAIU, Columbus and both have been called on frequently to appear before local assemblies. Both have been pupils of Miss Estelle A. Ryan, head of the dramatic art department of the Proctor School for two and one-half years and are continuing their studies in that school.

Although both Mrs. Mason and Miss Mason have appeared in school recitals in Dayton, the coming program will be their first presentation individually, especially before a home audience. Their program will consist of a group of readings in both poetry and prose. Both artists are extending invitations to their friends to attend the recital, for which there will be no admission charge. The complete program for the recital will be announced later.

ENTERTAINED ON GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Ert Huston, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Huston, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Huston and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Leach, delightfully entertained about fifty relatives last Wednesday for the pleasure of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Huston, at their home, the occasion being their golden wedding anniversary.

The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion with large baskets of yellow chrysanthemums and other fall flowers being used. A social time was enjoyed and a delicious two-course dinner was served. During the afternoon a poem which was written by one of the nieces was read, as follows:

"Let's Go Back to Grandma's"
Just fifty years ago,
Where "bouncing betsy's" and "holly hocks" and great tall pine trees grow,
Back to the house on the corner,
Where Grandma lived with pride,
Back to the night in October—
When Aunt Emma was a beautiful bride.

Dressed in lovely silk and lace—
With a tall handsome man beside her,
Strolling through the clear old hall,
Fifty years have passed away and still,
Let us wish them many more years,
And pray this will be God's will.
—C. E. S.

The honor guests were presented many useful and dainty gifts.

JUDGE ALLEN WILL ADDRESS CLUB WOMEN

Judge Florence Allen of the Ohio Supreme Court will be the banquet speaker when the southwestern district of the Ohio Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs holds its regional meeting this year in Cincinnati, beginning Saturday, November 2 and lasting two days.

It is hoped that a large representation from the local club will be present. All members interested and who are planning to attend the meeting are asked to notify Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson not later than Thursday noon; so she may make reservations.

Headquarters for the meeting will be at the Hotel Sinton. The banquet will be held in that hotel Saturday evening at 8 o'clock for $2 a plate.

Interesting program of greetings and music by the Cincinnati Club and Mrs. E. Fern Flint is being arranged. A tea on Saturday afternoon will be served by the hotel and breakfast Sunday morning will be served there. Open forum at the Cincinnati B. P. W. C. will be at 10 o'clock Sunday morning. Lunch will be served at the tea room at the club.

CECIL CLIFF CHAPTER ENJOYS MEETING

OHIOAN KILLED AS AUTO STRIKES BUS

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 22.—Roy G. Gilmore, 36, of this city and formerly of Gallipolis, was killed in an automobile-bus crash five miles north of Monroe, Mich., late last night, according to word which his family received here today.

Seven persons who were riding in the bus were injured, none seriously, when Gilmore drove his automobile head-on into the large Greyhound bus which was enroute to Toledo.

Rain is believed to have obstructed Gilmore's vision. His automobile struck the bus after passing a large truck and a trailer.

Gilmore, a salesman, was headed for Detroit, his family said. He was the son of Mr. and Mrs. Sherman L. Gilmore, of Gallipolis.

WHEN IN DOUBT WHAT TO DO WITH THE OLD FURNACE CONSIDER GAS

To spend money for the needed repairs on the old furnace, with the foreknowledge that it won't last many more years, at best, or to get a new furnace or boiler, or to install gas heat... that is the question for your immediate solution.

When all the facts and advantages are carefully weighed, gas heat recommends itself most convincingly to the man of judgment. Gas heat means: no fuel to store and pay for in advance; no space in the basement for storage, a cleaner basement; no lifting of tons of fuel and ashes by the shovelful; no clouds of ashes... and no cross words from the wife about it. No "stoking down" and coaxing fires on cold mornings... no attention at all, if you have the automatic control device to "stoke" your gas-fired furnace or boiler, and give you a home evenly heated in the first cool days of fall or the bitterest winter weather. Here is a test for your judgment, and the happiness and health of your family depends upon your decision.

BOY SCOUTS OF AMERICA

Annual inspection of Troop No. 41, Boy Scouts of America, will take place at the Scout cabin at 7:30 o'clock Thursday evening and will be followed by a "feed," according to Scoutmaster R. H. Kingsbury, who announces that all members and troop committee are especially urged to be present at this meeting.

"Attendance in uniform and neatness will aid our troop in obtaining a good rating," the Scoutmaster declares.

All Scout troops in the district will be inspected on various dates.

MOTHERS now learn value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy, every mother should know about Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

This harmless, almost tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by souring food in the little digestive tract, such as sour-belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, colic. As a mild laxative, it acts gently, but certainly, to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding, and preventing hard curds. Its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting book "Useful Information." It will be sent you, FREE, Write The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York N. Y.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

WEATHER STATION READY NOVEMBER 1

Arrival of the necessary instruments is being awaited for establishment of a weather observatory at the state fish hatchery, Springfield Pike, in charge of Ernest Harner, hatchery superintendent and county game warden, who has been appointed weather observer for Xenia.

New instruments are to be sent here from the U. S. weather service, Washington D. C. because instruments used at the abandoned station at the O. S. and S. O. Home could not be found. The local observatory is expected to be installed by the first of next month.

COMMUNITY CLUB TO ENJOY MASQUERADE

A Halloween masquerade will be enjoyed at the Richland schoolhouse by members of the Richland Community Club Friday evening, October 25.

The Masonic Quartette of Xenia will sing and a playlet will be given by members of the Union Community Club. Roy Seifer, and Richard Ross will also appear in the program, the former giving vocal selections and the latter offering piano numbers.

Each family in the club is asked to bring a dozen meat sandwiches and fruit salad. A prize will be awarded to the best costumed person present and visitors are cordially invited to attend.

BIBLE THOUGHT FOR TODAY

PREPARATION — John cried saying, Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his paths straight. Every valley shall be filled, and every mountain and hill shall be brought low, and the crooked shall be made straight, and the rough ways shall be made smooth; And all flesh shall see the salvation of God.—Luke 3:4, 5, 6.

ABOUT CENSORSHIP

In the opinion of Senator Cutting, of New Mexico, clerks in the United States Bureau of Customs are not fitted for the task of censoring so-called obscene or treasonable literature sent over here from abroad. The senator took a determined and temporarily successful stand last week in the upper house of congress in an effort to eliminate a section of the tariff bill directing customs officials to refuse entry to such books.

The senator appeared primed for argument with a list of 739 books barred during 1928, of which 379 were written in Spanish, 231 in French, 10 in German, 5 in Italian and 114 in English. He declined to read the list into the record because he declared that he had no wish "to imperil public morals."

Though the senator was apparently more concerned with the quality of the censorship than with the fact that such supervision is needed, yet his dissatisfaction is justifiable. The problems of discriminating censorship are too complicated for solution by any group of clerks. It is even difficult to imagine the personnel of an ideal body of censors. One man's literary meat will still remain another's literary poison.

If, however, the purpose of such censorship is to keep from the young people of the land neurotic, erotic, pathological writings which shock the growing mind and turn its thoughts into unwholesome channels—something might be done aside from the tariff bill. Both news stands and book stores offer cheap publications that have not even the debatable excuse of honest, artistic attempt at an expression of truth to justify their yarns of love and romance. Boys and girls may purchase this shoddy for small sums, while the price of imported obscenity is at least likely to be prohibitive, putting it beyond the reach of impecunious youngsters.

The total of 739 books excluded last year by the customs censors does not compare with the amount of trash poured out month after month for home consumption. Without necessarily being obscene, much of it is as dangerous to immature minds as "Candide" or "Lysistrata;" and at least to read these in the originals one must have used his mind enough to have learned French and Greek, which is more than the rouged or sleek-haired "confession hounds" will bestir themselves to do.

And of course, the flattering reception Premier MacDonald received over here isn't going to hurt him any with his constituency back home.

Washington reports that a nation-wide traffic jam is in prospect. Then the era of the too level highway is drawing near.

Maybe, as Mr. Ford says, women are not mechanically-minded, but we have known women who have had to drive nails and put up stoves while their husbands stood by helplessly.

Bo-Broadway

By JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Norman Thomas, the Socialist mayoralty candidate, is gifted with a sense of humor which if not so flamboyant as that of Messrs. Walker and La Guardia, is nevertheless rich and droll.

"If by some miracle you should be elected mayor," a friend recently asked him, "do you think you could preserve your sense of humor?"

"If one miracle should happen, I think the other could," replied Mr. Thomas.

ISN'T THAT THE WAY? Old Laurence Stallings, co-author of "What Price Glory," was a copyreader on the New York World when Fortune arched her brows at him and they went arm in arm from Park Row to Broadway and Hollywood.

Back in the days when he was mulling over the plot and structure of his famous play he invited one of the feature writers on the sheet to collaborate.

"I'm sorry, old man," replied the self-sufficient scribe, who, to tell the truth, wasn't particularly flattered by an offer at collaboration from a mere copyreader. "I'm sorry, but I think it would be a waste of time. Anyway, I'm working on a play of my own just now. Why don't you get someone else?"

Stallings got another collaborator and cleaned up half a million on the show and today is growing tobacco down North Carolina while he self-satisfied scribe who turned down the offer for fifty-fifty on a million dollar split is still hammering the clacksmith at the Boss' behest.

A HUMOR CONTEST Members of the Women's Press Club, seasoned crusaders for women's rights, are mobilized on the field of humor to do battle for sex equality. A humor contest, open to all women not members of the Press Club, will be the first step in the campaign to convince incredulous men and over-modest women that woman's wit is equal, and possibly superior, to that of the opposite sex.

Humor, what crimes are committed in thy name!

HATS OFF TO FRITZI SCHEFF Fritzi Scheff was dragged out of her seclusion the other night and reappeared after a lapse of 20 years in Victor Herbert's Mile. Modiste. And a sophisticated first night audience got up on its hind legs and cheered until the rafters rang. When it came to the "Kiss Me Again" refrain there was no restraining them. Fritzi began it and the gang finished it for her, much the same a story used to do in the days of screen songs, in vaudeville. Then they clapped and stamped and cheered and it all had to be done over again.

That's the beauty of New York. It's large enough and sufficiently nonchalant and rich and bright and glamorous to have the courage to do what it jolly well pleases — and the devil take anyone who thinks differently.

THE WAY of the WORLD

By GROVE PATTERSON

AS TO GENIUS Many young people spent a lot of time wishing they had genius. The only success they seem able to visualize or understand is the sudden success that sometimes comes through the possession of unusual talent. Their attention might be called to this paragraph by Julian Ralph: "I do not despise genius—indeed, I wish I had a basket of it instead of a brain, but yet, after a great deal of experience and observation, I have become convinced that industry is a better horse to ride than genius. It may never carry any one man as far as genius has carried individuals, but industry—patient, steady, intelligent industry—will carry thousands into comfort and even into celebrity, and this it does with absolute certainty; whereas genius often refuses to be tamed and managed, and often goes with wretched morals. If you are to wish for either, wish for industry."

A GOOD POLICY

A successful man was once asked to set forth in a few words the policy that has accounted for his success. He said: "My policy has been to take up one thing after another and handle it the best way I could, without excitement or worry or running around in circles. Just one thing after another—doing the best I could." That is a simple policy, simply stated. There is a great deal in it. It works.

IN TWENTY MINUTES

It is said the Spanish war was won in 20 minutes. It took only that long to destroy the fleet. One thinks of that when he hears over-talkative people trying to do business in a conference. So many of us are not content with stating our position, simply and firmly. We insist on elaborating, repeating, bringing in matter which does not belong in the discussion, wasting time and befouling the issue. So many questions can be perfectly answered by "yes" or "no." Most matters can be handled in a sentence—if we just had will-power enough to stop talking.

CO-OPERATION

If you live in a town which has an automobile club, join it. Every day you are on the road your driving is made more comfortable and more safe because of the long-continued efforts of auto clubs. In this country we are coming to be splendidly marked, abuses corrected, and accidents cut down in number by the work of motor organizations. You who do not belong to the club and pay no dues go out on the road and enjoy the benefits of something you have not helped to pay for. It is not fair.

PLANS FOR INTER-AMERICAN HIGHWAY SYSTEM OUTLINED

By T. ODDIE

Senator From Nevada (Tasker Lodwides Oddie was born at Brooklyn, N. Y., October 24, 1870. He is a graduate of New York university. For two years he was engaged in real estate in New York City. He went to Nevada in 1898 and became engaged in mining operations. From 1904 to 1908 he was a member of the Nevada senate. He was governor of Nevada from 1910 to 1924. In 1921 he was elected U. S. senator and has been returned each term since. He is a Republican.)

Leaders of American republics are effectively working out highway transportation programs in connection with the proposed inter-American highway, that will make the scenic splendors and natural resources of all countries of the Americas accessible to the international motorist.

Rapid transportation is a vital necessity to the economic welfare of every nation. The aeronautics bureau of the department of commerce feels that a suitable system of highways will aid materially in the development of a comprehensive system of inter-American airways.

Not only will such a highway system increase the safety of the airways by furnishing facilities for the establishment and maintenance of air navigation aids and for the movement of aircraft fuel and supplies; it will also provide the "ground feeder" lines which are so essential to the full utilization of air commerce with all its marvelous possibilities. In order to obtain maximum prosperity and amity for each of the nations of North, South, and Central America, men, money, mail and merchandise should be transported with the least possible delay. An inter-American highway system, therefore, will be a distinct adjunct to the inter-American railway, waterway, and skyway systems which will soon link the new world together with indis-soluble ties of business and friendship.

Latin American countries are today where the United States stood in the point of road construction prior to the federal aid road act of 1916. There is one important difference, however, and that is that the social and economic influences carried by motor transportation are much more clearly understood and

'EQUALITY BEFORE THE LAW'

How To Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

For a great many years Europe has used the watering places on the continent as Meccas for those seeking health, youth and beauty. Many business men and women go there for a vacation—vacation having a slightly different meaning than it has on this side of the ocean. When we have days of freedom we look about us for a place full of gaiety and excitement, and we generally exhaust ourselves—pursuing pleasure.

Europeans, on the other hand, seek the watering places and sanatoriums even when they are not actually ill. They take rest cures, live a special routine existence, especially planned for them by the doctor in charge, and go back to their desks, their homes and their activities with renewed energy.

I shall not argue the merits of the two systems. For a great many of us the joy of playing and rushing around is more important because it renews our spirit and gives life new color. This sometimes is more important than special physical care. But there is much to be learned from these cures which can be useful in our own homes. How fat, sagging muscles are reduced, dried lines ironed out, and worn nerves soothed.

Therefore, while the elite are spending weeks at Mont-Dore, Baden-Baden, Karlsbad, and all the other resorts which have grown famous all over the world, I shall tell you as much in detail as space permits, about these experiences. Their diet, their exercise, their periods of rest, and you can most likely gather from this information some special phase of health care which interests you at the moment.

It is good to remember that the keynote of these cures, particularly in Germany, is moderation—eating, exercising and playing in moderation. The only thing which is done excessively is sleeping, but I suppose we may excuse it, since the guests are there for rest.

In my next talk I shall discuss exercise, since that is so important to woman, for it not only has to do with health, but also with beauty of form.

Behind the Scenes In Washington

By CHARLES P. STEWART

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—Congressman Sol Bloom, of New York is just back from Europe with the latest news of Premier Mussolini.

Without any joking, Sol is this country's foremost authority on the subject of the Italian dictator. He knows him intimately, humanely. They first met when Mussolini was an ordinary newspaper editor, long before the world had an inkling of the future in store for him. I surmise that they took to one another by virtue of the bond between them as a pair of natural born supermen.

Sol unquestionably is a prejudiced witness concerning the premier. However, it is for himself alone that he admires the latter. It is not because Mussolini ever did anything for him—except to like him. To that extent the congressman's attitude is entirely disinterested.

Recently, as will be recalled, Mussolini, until then his own whole cabinet, unloaded a number of portfolios (I think seven was the exact figure) upon as many different appointees.

Why—"everyone asked at the time. Is "Il Duce" getting ready to retire?"

"No," answers Congressman Bloom.

Mussolini took charge of Italy "virtually as receiver of a bankrupt enterprise. He has it now on a paying basis, and is restoring some of the forms customary in the management of a regularly-running business, but he intends to remain at the head of it. The stockholders would not let him the period of trial and error through which the United States had to pass has been largely eliminated because the great work of the engineers of the federal and state governments.

Everywhere there is an urgent demand for more and better roads, but thus far there has been little legislation in Latin American countries which would consolidate the road programs. The remarkable results which have been obtained in the United States through enactment of our federal aid road act are clearly understood and appreciated by leaders in Latin American countries and there is more than passing evidence that it will not be long before national governments of these countries accept in greater degree their responsibility in this endeavor.

man, "when Teddy Roosevelt was fighting for construction of the Panama canal, and all his advisers warned him that his plan was hopeless because it was against the law, I understand he said 'Damn the law! I intend to dig that canal anyway!'"

"I certainly cannot imagine him try to get results, of any sort, by appointing a lot of commissions."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

MENU HINT

Cold Sliced Meat
Hashed Brown Potatoes
Chili Sauce
Perfection Salad
Date Pudding with Whipped Cream
Tea with Lemon

I am suggesting this as a luncheon or supper menu. Hot rolls or muffins may be served with it. The potatoes and salad would serve four.

Today's Recipes

Hashed Brown Potatoes—One-third cup salt pork or bacon fat, three cups chopped boiled potatoes, salt and pepper. Heat the fat in a heavy frying pan and add the potatoes, finely chopped and well seasoned. Stir until the fat is well mixed, season to taste and let brown underneath. Fold like an omelet.

Perfection Salad—One tablespoon gelatin or one-half package lemon gelatin, one-quarter cup cold water, one cup boiling water, one-quarter cup mild vinegar, one tablespoon lemon juice, one-quarter cup sugar, one-half cup cabbage, finely chopped, one cup celery cut in small pieces, one pimiento or fresh sweet red and green peppers, salt to taste. Soften gelatin in cold water, add boiling water and stir until dissolved, then add sugar, vinegar, lemon juice and salt. When mixture begins to stiffen add remaining ingredients. Turn into mold that has been first dipped in cold water and chill. Cut in blocks and serve on lettuce leaves or endive. Garnish with mayonnaise.

Date Pudding—Two eggs, two tablespoons flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one cup chopped nuts, one cup chopped dates, three-fourths cup sugar. Beat eggs, add sugar, sift in flour and baking powder and add walnuts and dates. Bake in greased pan 30 to 40 minutes. Serve in squares with whipped cream.

Suggestions

Varnished Linoleum Easy to Clean. A protective covering of varnish will make linoleum last longer and help to keep the kitchen floor attractive and clean. Varnishing is not a difficult process. Before you begin make sure that the linoleum is spotlessly clean. Go over a small area at a time with mild soapsuds and lukewarm water or a soap jelly, rinse and wipe each part thoroughly dry before proceeding to the next. Avoid flooding the surface with water, as this is likely to rot the fabric. Then apply the first coat of varnish, wait until it is dry, and go over the surface a second time.

Corn Bread—One cup flour, four teaspoons baking powder, one tablespoon sugar, one-half teaspoon salt, one cup corn meal, one egg, one and one-half cups milk, four tablespoons melted shortening. Sift together flour, baking powder, sugar and salt. Add corn meal, beaten egg and milk to make a stiff batter. Add shortening and beat until light and thoroughly mixed. Pour into greased shallow pan. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees Fahrenheit) about 25 minutes.

Diet and Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.
Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

Why Does She Gain?

"I am 5 feet 3 1-2 inches tall, and have lost 30 pounds by following your instructions. I reckon that 1900 calories daily is my maintenance number, but, darn it, I gain on it! I have to go to bed at 600 to 700 to lose. Why is this? I am in perfect health, and have an enormous appetite. Is there anything else besides counting my calories that I can do? I want to lose faster; it discourages me to lose so slowly. Please tell me how many calories in bran, and in canned vegetable soup?"

"MISS C."

At 5 feet 3 1-2 inches, with ordinary activity, you should lose some on 1900 calories, but I imagine that your admitted "enormous appetite" occasionally makes you slip. Perhaps you go on 1900 for five or six days, and on the seventh take 3800 or so. And those extra calories make your average come up over your maintenance.

Then, another possibility: Perhaps you haven't gone long enough on the 1900 calories diet to see results. The water balance factor that I have spoken of so often may enter into it. Perhaps the day before you weigh yourself, your diet has been such that even though it hasn't been high in calories, it causes a retention of water in the body cells. Salty foods will do this, and also concentrated sweets and candy, and this is one of the reasons we advise those who are reducing to use very little of these foods. In order to judge whether you have lost from one week to another, your diet should be composed of approximately the same food (and should be taken about the same time) for two days previous, or at least for one day, on account of this water balance factor.

One of the followers recently wrote that she was off her reducing diet and was eating between meals for three days, and she was more than resentfully astonished when she found she had gained seven pounds in that short time—could it be possible? Sadly I answer, Yes. I've done it many times myself! The fact of the matter is I've found my scales have gone up even in one day's time, as high as three pounds, when I have had a good dinner and a midnight supper as well. This gain, of course, is not all fat. It is the water retention again. However, some of it is fat.

In the last experience I had with reducing, I found that unless I went on a very low calorie diet the day following my gain, it took me five days to get down to where I was before my little food debacle.

Is there anything besides counting calories to help reduce? Yes, and it is something you should do, if it is not contra-indicated. This is to exercise more. Try to walk two or three miles a day, briskly, besides, at the same time you are reducing your muscles, you want to tone up your muscles.

Cereal bran is two-thirds of a cup to the 100 C. Canned vegetable soup is listed as 26 ounces to the 100 C. Evidently there is not much fat in it. So you can have a good eight-ounce bowl of soup for about 35 C. And, by the way, clear, vegetable or meat consommé without any fat, is listed as 52 ounces to the 100 C., so you can have 8 ounces of this for only 25 C. It's a good plan, in the reducing diet, to have good bowl of hot consommé for each meal, for it helps to fill that greedy tummy.

Do you put down the calories for every mouthful you take between meals as well as at meals? That's the only way you can tell how many you are getting.

Those who need instructions on how to reduce or gain may have our pamphlet on the subject by following column rules. We also have an article outlining some splendid exercises called the Tum-my Ten.

Tomorrow: Answers to Mothers.

Living and Loving

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"Dear Virginia Lee: Here is someone who is not writing about themselves. Our brother met a lovely girl while we were away this summer, whom he thought he liked very much and showed it in every possible way. She thought he meant it and returned his affections."

"He dropped her flat when her sister came, and acted the same toward her. The first can't seem to forget him. Do you think she should try? And do you think our brother really likes her sister? Depending on your good advice, we are,

"Two Wondering Sisters."

It looks very much, girls, as if the brother did not know his own mind and is taken with every charming new girl he meets. It may be, however, that he really cares for this girl, the sister of the one he liked first. Time will settle that matter. It's too bad about the first girl, but there's nothing we can do about it, I guess.

"Dear Virginia Lee: Would you kindly advise me as to what would be a suitable gift for my fiancée? This must be outside of the smoking line."

"Priscilla,"

The line of Christmas gifts which suggested the other day would be appropriate for any time. Bill book, note book, stationery, desk set, book ends, books, pictures, leather shaving case or traveling bag, dressing case, military brushes, belt, watch chain, ring, pin, cuff links or studs for dress wear, neck scarf, gloves, slippers, dressing gown or jacket. Will this list help?

WH TWO: So you think that if I answer real soon your broken hearts will be mended, do you? I think you don't know what treat! bit and matches are. Such silly little worries. The boys are taking these affairs seriously, so to serve.

Peter's Adventures

By MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

A TRAP FOR THE GREEDY

"In the heart of a honeysuckle! I never expected to be there, but I couldn't imagine a more delightful spot." Peter actually sighed for delight. "Are we going to spend the night here?"

"I should say not," answered Moon-Moth. "Our flying has only begun. We've a long way yet to go. Listen! Don't I hear my brothers calling? They have flown ahead and discovered something. We'll hurry up and find out what."

Peter couldn't see far ahead of him, but he didn't like to admit it. However, just as he was straining his eyes to peer through the darkness, the moon came up and he saw that Moon-Moth had alighted on the trunk of a tree and that just below him on the trunk hung something that he by decided must be a rag covered with sticky sugar. Anyway, whatever it was, on it the moths were greedily feeding.

Sweet spread out for the Moon-Moths to enjoy! Peter grew suspicious. So did another of the flyers sailing close beside him. "I don't like the look of this at all," murmured Hawk-Moth to Moon-Moth. "Anything that comes so easily is not safe the taking. I'll bet you 'tis a trap."

"To catch us," added Moon-Moth, and Peter could feel him shiver. Peter had been straining his eyes to see if he could make any discovery that would be of use to his friends and now he noticed—was sure he did—something moving above the heads of the feasting moths.

"It is a trap, it is!" cried Peter in great excitement. "I am sure those moths are going to be caught in a net. Call your friends! Warn them, warn them quickly or it will be too late, General Hawk-Moth!"

Maybe Death's Head, who had been busy eating, heard the cry. Maybe instinct had told him something was wrong. At any rate, he gave that queer little squeak of his and it so startled his companions that with outstretched wings they rose into the air just in time to escape a net in which a man was trying to catch them.

"Help, help, help!" The fleeing moths heard the despairing cries and, trembling, turned about to see what had happened. By the light of the moon Peter saw to his dismay that not all of his friends had been fortunate enough to escape. Several of them had been too greedy for their own good. Thinking of nothing but devouring as much of the sticky syrup as they could hold, they had let themselves be caught in the net. Peter shivered. Something told him that never again would the captives fly by the light of the moon.

READ THIS FIRST:

It is June, and graduation time. Rosalie March, seventeen, the prettiest senior, is secretly in love with the boy across the street, Neil McKinley, who is reputed to be the town's richest boy. Rosalie's mother is the town seamstress, and makes Rosalie a beautiful graduation dress. It is Rosalie's first really pretty dress, and she is very proud.

NOW GO ON WITH THE STORY

CHAPTER II

Commencement exercises were over. School days were ended. There could be no college days for Rosalie, because there was no money. Few girls in Rendale thought much of going to college, anyway. They usually either went to work or idled until they married. Marriage was preferred, of course, by most of them.

Dancing was strictly forbidden in the school. Several teachers had been fired unceremoniously for setting such a "sinful example." But the senior class, whose president was Neil McKinley, had taken its entire treasury and put it into an orchestra from Philadelphia.

McKinley Hall was donated by Neil's father for the farewell senior dance. Rosalie lingered a little longer than the rest after the exercises, looking around the little old chapel with eyes that burned with unshed tears, a heavy lump in her breast. She hadn't known what it would be like to say goodbye to the little red brick building that had been her life for eleven years. It housed both the grades and "high."

Lost in her sentimental thoughts Rosalie did not hear steps behind her. She gasped and uttered a little scream when she felt two large hands over her eyes. Then she felt a kiss on her cheek. She pulled away, and, shrinking, faced Neil—his face wreathed in a mischievous grin.

He reached for her again and she stepped back—pink of face and speechless.

"Hello, boob! I've been waiting outside to take you home—believe it or not—gorgeous."

"You—you scared me, Neil," Rosalie forced herself to be natural. "I—couldn't imagine."

"Couldn't imagine me kissing you?" He smiled into her face, staring so close that she stepped away from him again.

"No, I just couldn't imagine who would be so—so fresh."

He struck a pose. "I'm the president of the late senior class of Rendale high school and I have a perfect right to kiss the most beautiful girl in the class on the last day of school."

"Oh—silly," Rosalie turned her head away self-consciously.

Neil laughed softly and reached for her hand.

"I've been a blind fool—Rosalie—Rosalie. You're the most kissable looking thing these old eyes have ever set upon. I've wasted a lot of good time."

"I don't let boys kiss me!" Rosalie's little chin went into the air defensively. "That's all you men think about, I guess."

The "men" pleased Neil so immensely that he didn't contradict her. He felt a great deal more than eighteen and just out of school then. Nice that she appreciated that he was a regular guy now.

They walked slowly from the chapel hand in hand as they had walked from school years before when they were too young to worry about the freshies who chanted:

"Neil and Rosie are mushy! They're gonna be married!"

Neil was at least ten before he stopped calling Rosalie his girl, because every time he tuned around he found their names coupled together with heart and arrows. By the time he was twelve he was becoming quite class conscious and his mother's frequent reference to the poverty of the March family and the affluence of the Cunningham family began to take hold.

After all, Mary Cunningham was very beautiful. A honey blonde, and the kindest dresser in town. So, quite suddenly Rosalie was without her old playmate. For a time she hated Mary with all the pent up loneliness of her little heart.

Then, gradually it all passed away and in its place came a sort of worship of Mary's beauty and a heart'sick feeling because she could not copy her lovely clothes and ritzy manner.

It was early evening and Neil and Rosalie drove silently through the June sunshine. To Rosalie the little red roadster was a chariot and Neil all that a princess might hope for by her side. She glanced cautiously from side to side now and then hoping that everyone saw her riding home with Neil and that they would notice that she was wearing a beautiful creamy white dress with darling pink rosebuds.

"Hello, boob! Let me take you home."

She almost was tempted to stick her new satin shoes right up to the windshield so that everyone who had ever pined for her would see!

Neil turned and smiled into her eyes with his old fresh grin when they neared home.

"Double dare you to come and sit and watch the dance tonight."

"Oh, Neil, I wouldn't dare! Mother would disown me if she found it out."

Neil sneered ever so slightly: "Aw, of all the darn nonsense! Come on Rosie—Rosalie, you're no baby any more. Aren't you ever going to breathe?"

Rosalie was in a brown study for a moment. She was sorely tempted. Surely it wouldn't hurt just to go to the dance and sit and watch a little while. Besides, how was she to know how really wrong such things were until she saw them in all their dreadfulness—herself?

"Want you Rosalie—for my sake?" Neil leaned close to her. "I got a date or I'd take you. But, I want you to come—just a little while. He reached into his pockets. 'Here, I have two tickets. Get Sybil Browne and both of you come and give the Roman orgy the once over.'"

Uncertainly, Rosalie took the tickets and put them in her waist. "Will you phone Sybil and ask her if she'll go? We have no phone, you know."

"Atta ole sweetheart," Rosalie was afraid Neil was going to kiss her right in the car. "I'll tell you know as soon as I get her."

Mrs. March, at the door, was dumfounded to see Rosalie get out of the car with Neil.

He grinned and waved: "Hello, Mrs. March. I brought your proud beauty home to keep the other men in the class from running away with her. Isn't she a vamp, today?"

Mother March beamed with pleasure that the little apple of her loving eye was at last coming into her own.

Rosalie stood beside her mother with her arms around her and they were both smiling. Neil looked them over critically and said freshly:

"Well, Mrs. March, I can't see as much of you as I can of Rosalie, but, you must have looked just like her when you were a girl. Ankles, and eyes and kissy lips—"

Elizabeth was a trifle shocked—but it was swamped with a little shade of vanity that clings to all women who have once been beautiful. She tossed her head:

"Shame on you—fresh young sport! I'm sure I don't know what the world is coming to."

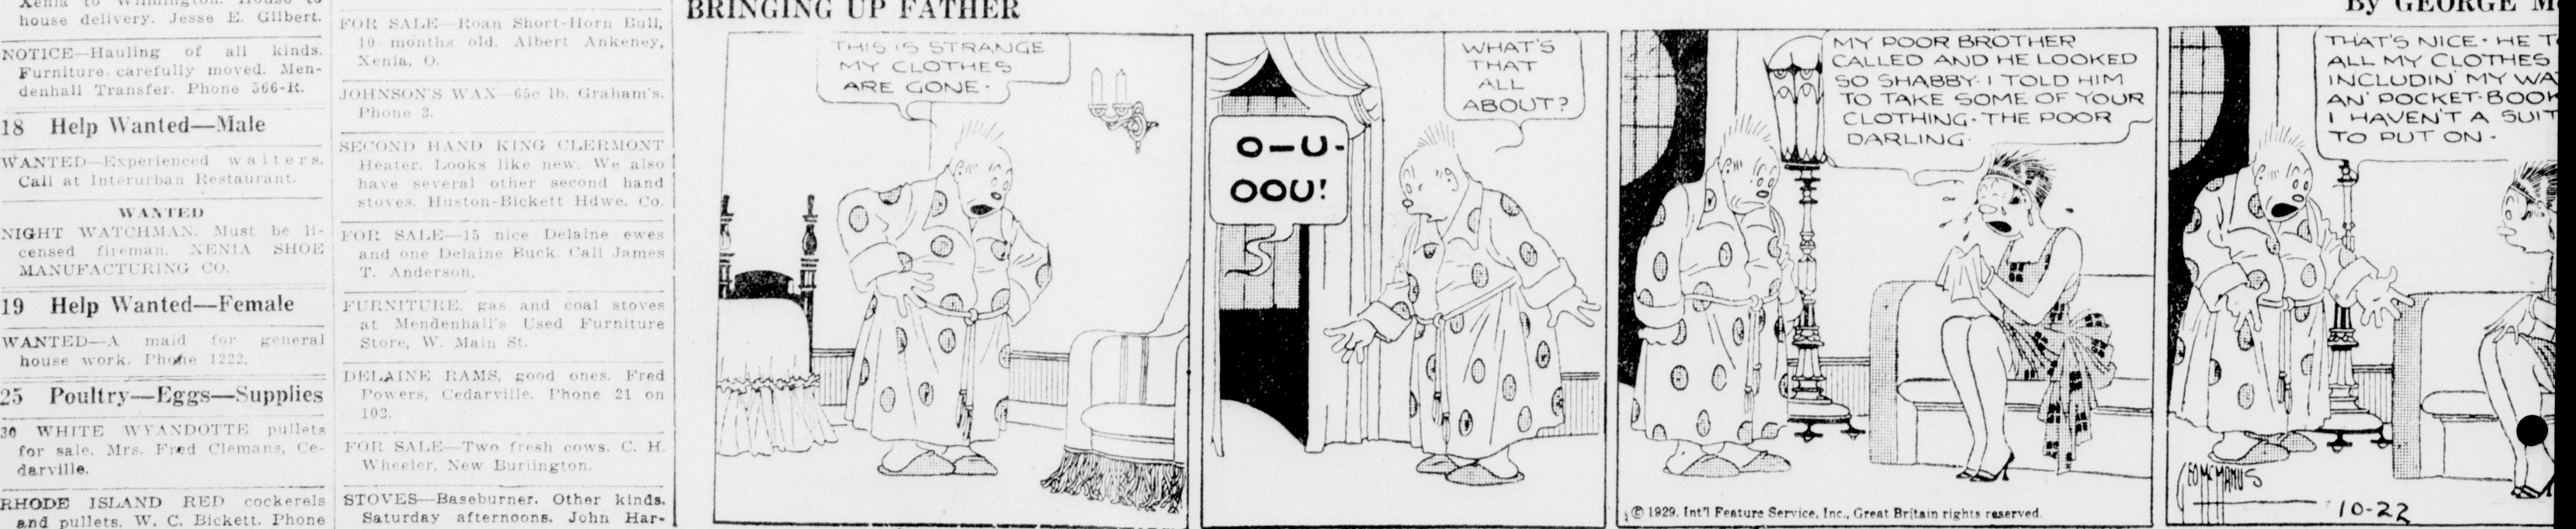

The world is coming to, all right," Neil laughed, and hurried in the house to phone Sybil.

Mrs. March went into the house and Rosalie sat on the porch. A minute later Neil came out on his porch wagging his head in the affirmative. Sybil would go to the dance.

The Theater

While the strike of theater musicians in Philadelphia, which threatened to spread to electricians, scene shifters and other stage workers, has been settled, Cincinnati legitimate houses are still dark.

A strike of stage workers in the Queen City, who wanted to be paid for weeks when the theaters were dark, has resulted in early season bookings being cancelled and it looks like a dark season for the theatergoers there with only the Stuart Walker Company furnishing a dramatic oasis in the playless desert.

Dayton, on the other hand, appears to be off on the right foot, with the Victory theater showing some of the best road attractions available.

Operation of the Dayton theater is reported frequently to be a precarious undertaking, with the attracting to look at, to provide cooling systems for hot weather as well as heating systems for cold weather. They had to provide better screens, comfortable seats and two good projection machines (to eliminate the "one minute, please" intermission) and the piano soon went the way of the folding chairs to be followed by organs that ran into several thousands of dollars in price. Now, kind reader, it is the talkie outfits and the fickle public doesn't know whether it is going to be pleased or not.

Her ability as a linguist, singer and dancer, stand Sylvia Nalina, Polish actress, in good stead, as she prepares to invade the alkfield. She returns to Hollywood after an extended stay abroad.

OSBORN YOUTH GETS EXPOSITION TRIP; CALF CLUB LEADER

As his reward for winning the 1929 dairy calf club championship of Ohio, Tom Ryburn, 13, of Osborn, is sharing in the sights and excitement attendant to the National Dairy Exposition at St. Louis, Mo., this week. Young Ryburn is one of seventeen farm lads brought to St. Louis by the Blue Valley Creamery Institute in recognition of outstanding leadership in calf club activities in their own states.

Ryburn is vice-president of his community 4-H organization, the Butter Bread Dairy Calf Club, and next year will be its leader. During his five years of club activities he has raised and shown dairy calves, and has fed and kept production and feed records on cows in milk as a part of his project work. His Holstein cow this year won first in its class and one of his calves took first prize in its class at the Ohio State Fair. Previously his cow placed first in the club classes as well as in the open class for aged cows at the Montgomery County Fair.

During the past five months his young cow produced 291 pounds of butterfat. To make this big production he provided plenty of alfalfa hay in its ration, and also corn silage. The grain ration was made up of 500 pounds of ground corn, 300 pounds ground oats, 200 pounds ground barley, 100 pounds cotton seed meal, and 100 pounds linseed oil meal, which he feeds in amounts varying with the cow's milk production.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. EMMA MIDDLETON SUDDENLY MONDAY

Mrs. Emma C. Middleton, 79, widow of James W. Middleton, died unexpectedly at 12 o'clock Monday night at the home of her son, J. Raymond Middleton, at Middleton's Corner, south of Xenia.

Mrs. Middleton, who was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob S. Peterson, was born in Clinton County December 22, 1849 and had lived in that vicinity, residing on the same farm, since her marriage which took place October 4, 1871. Her husband preceded her in death September 12, 1917.

She was a member of the Caesar-creek Grange and the Reformed Church at Maple Corner for many years until the congregation was disbanded, after which she became a member of the church of that denomination in Xenia.

Surviving are two sons, Orville P. Middleton, Wilmington Pike, and J. Raymond Middleton, at whose home she died; two brothers, Orville E. Peterson, Pamplin, Va., and Elmer, of Lake Wales, Fla.; and three sisters, Mrs. Grace Colvin, Delaware, O.; Mrs. Alice McMillan, Wilmington; and Mrs. G. A. McKay, Xenia. Six grandchildren and one great grandchild also survive.

Funeral services will be announced later.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The Hi-Y Club held its regular meeting Monday night, October 21 at 7:30. There were nineteen members present.

A vice president for the club was chosen. Roland Bice was elected after a short nominating session.

Kenneth Finlay, who has been absent for two consecutive meetings was dropped from membership.

The constitution for the club was then read and after some discussion those who are in charge of writing it were instructed to re-write it for the next meeting at which time it is to be approved or rejected.

The meeting was then moved to the gymnasium where initiation for eight new members was carried on.

OLD PHONE BOOK LISTS 210 SUBSCRIBERS

Miami Telephone Co., Directory Of 1893 Offers Quaint Instructions To Users; Brewery Listing Recalls Old Days.

A "flivver" telephone directory such as was the vogue in Ohio cities thirty-six years ago and which was the last word for Xenia patrons in 1893 has been unearthed at the Cleveland offices of The Ohio Bell Telephone Co., according to H. W. Cleaver, commercial manager here.

The old directory, issued by the Miami Telephone Co., August 1, 1893, is about one-third the size of the one in use at present and contains the names of 210 subscribers. Such simple and apparent listings as "Mayor's Office" and "Work House" appear on the narrow pages. Not a Z is recorded and during the last thirty-six years the influx of patrons with surnames starting with Z has not been tremendous as is shown by the fact that today there are only five.

Patrons of the early nines are instructed to "stand with your lips four to eight inches from the transmitter and talk in an ordinary tone of voice. When through talking, hang up telephone, large and down, and give one quick, short ring. This is important, as your line may be reported busy unless this signal for disconnection is given."

The above quotation illustrates developments in telephone usage during the past thirty years. The introduction of the "common battery" system has abolished the necessity for ringing before and after the call is made, except in rural sections. Instructions now are to talk in an ordinary tone of voice with the lips not more than an inch from the transmitter.

Other instructions indicate the limited use of the telephone when the old directory was issued.

"Don't allow non-subscribers to use your telephone. It is unjust to other subscribers, impedes your service, and is a violation of your contract. Any person may, with the consent of the subscriber, use the telephone to call a doctor, or in case of fire or accident."

One brewery is listed, that of Hollencamp and Weddle, with the number 15. Not a single Jones appears on the pages. In fact, there is only one J listing and that is Jobe

Bros. and Co. The Smiths have only one representative, J. C. Smith of Osborn. Today, there are twenty-eight Jones and the Smiths number forty-four in Xenia alone. The first listing in the old directory was for Adams Express Co., while the last one was for the Yellow Springs Bank. Today, M. D. Abramowitz heads the list and the final listing for Xenia is Dr. W. C. Zell.

Xenia's telephonic growth may be observed by a comparison in the number of telephones when the diminutive directory was issued and the number in the city today. Today there are 2550 as compared with 210 thirty-six years ago.

Among those listed in the old directory who are now residents or firms of Xenia are: Fred Baldwin, Dr. A. D. De Haven, Dr. W. A. Galloway, J. Graham, John A. North, Dr. B. R. McClellan, Daniel Steele, Baby's Hardware, Eavey and Co., Fetzer Bros., Hooven and Allison Co., Hutchison and Gibney, Jobe Bros., Wilberforce University, and the Xenia Gazette.

LOAN RESOURCES IN STATE INCREASED

An increase of $108,896,674.57 in building and loan resources in Ohio during the last fiscal year is noted in the annual report of John W. Prugh, state superintendent of building and loan associations and former mayor of Xenia, just filed with Governor Myers V. Cooper.

Exceeded only in 1924 when resources increased $117,145,000 this

The Cow is off the Track! AN ANCIENT PREJUDICE HAS BEEN REMOVED

Railroads have safely passed those danger signals of prejudice which caused folks to look upon them with fear. Holding aloft the semaphore of progress AMERICAN INTELLIGENCE cleared the track and, today, millions travel in ease and security.

"toasting did it"—

Gone is that ancient prejudice against cigarettes—Progress has been made. We removed the prejudice against cigarettes when we removed harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from the tobaccos.

YEARS ago, when cigarettes were made without the aid of modern science, there originated that ancient prejudice against all cigarettes. That criticism is no longer justified. LUCKY STRIKE, the finest cigarette you ever smoked, made of the choicest tobacco, properly aged and skillfully blended—"It's Toasted."

"TOASTING," the most modern step in cigarette manufacture, removes from LUCKY STRIKE harmful irritants which are present in cigarettes manufactured in the old-fashioned way.

Everyone knows that heat purifies, and so "TOASTING"—LUCKY STRIKE'S extra secret process—removes harmful corrosive ACRIDS (pungent irritants) from LUCKIES which in the old-fashioned manufacture of cigarettes cause throat irritation and coughing. Thus "TOASTING" has destroyed that ancient prejudice against cigarette smoking by men and by women.

"It's toasted"

No Throat Irritation-No Cough.

"It's Toasted"—the phrase that describes the extra "toasting" process applied in the manufacture of Lucky Strike Cigarettes. The finest tobaccos—the Cream of the Crop—are scientifically subjected to penetrating heat at minimum, 260°—maximum, 300°, Fahrenheit. The exact, expert regulation of such high temperatures removes impurities. More than a slogan, "It's Toasted" is recognized by millions as the most modern step in cigarette manufacture.

CONVICTED STRIKE LEADERS ADMITTED TO BOND FIRST TIME

Beal And Companions Found Guilty In Murder Trial

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Oct. 22.—The fresh opened spaces beckoned today to Fred Erwin Beal, leader of the Gastonia strike and his six aides, convicted of second degree murder in connection with the murder of Police Chief O. F. Aderholt, for the first time since they were incarcerated five months ago.

The international labor defense announced that it would put up bond for the seven sometime today.

The amounts of the bonds were fixed by Judge M. V. Barnhill, late yesterday pending the disposal of their cases by the state supreme court, to which the defense counsel gave notice of appeal for a new trial.

It was the first time that bond was allowed the self-styled martyrs since they were arrested following the slaying of Aderholt on June 7, when he led a police raid upon the National Textile Workers Union at Gastonia to quell a reported disturbance. They were held on a capital charge, until the state reduced the degree of murder against them at the beginning of their latest trial.

A jury composed of middle-aged farmers returned a verdict of guilty in the second degree yesterday afternoon after an hour's deliberation, preceded by a two-hour charge from Judge Barnhill.

There was no demonstration in the courtroom as the three-week-old trial came to an end, although twenty uniformed policemen made an appearance in the crowd a few minutes before the verdict was announced.

Beal and three other "foreigners" received the heaviest of the sentences from Judge Barnhill. Beal, who was southern organizer for the N. T. W. U., Clarence Miller, of New York, an organizer for the young pioneers, a communist organization; Joseph Harrison Passaic, N. J., who was wounded in the melee that claimed Aderholt's life, and George Carter, 23, of Memphis, N. J., each got from seventeen to twenty years imprisonment on the murder charge. They received sentences of ten years each on a charge of assault growing out of the wounding of Police Chief T. A. Gilbert. In the same affray, but the sentence will run concurrently.

K. V. Hendricks, 27, a native of the Appalachians, got from five to seven years; W. M. McGinnis, 26, of Rutherfordton, N. C., and Louis McLaughlin, 23, Lancaster, S. C., from twelve to fifteen years each. They all received lesser sentences for assaulting Gilbert, but they too will run concurrently. Bond for Beal, Harrison, Carter and Miller was set at $5,000 each; McGinnis and McLaughlin, $2,500, and Hendricks, $2,000.

ASK INDICTMENTS IN STRIKE DISORDER

GASTONIA, N. C., Oct. 22.—Two cases growing out of the Gastonia strike and subsequent anti-communist reign of terror, will be presented to the Gaston County grand jury today.

Nine over-seers of the Lora mill, are charged with manslaughter in the murder of Mrs. Ella May Wiggins, a mother of five.

Seven more "bosses" are charged with flogging Ben Wells, British title organizer, and kidnapping two other organizers. They have already been tried and acquitted in Cabarrus County, where the flogging occurred.

However, as the men were kidnapped here, similar charges were placed against them in Gaston County.

ORDER INDICATES GRAF TO MAKE TRIP

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Renewed confidence in the Graf Zeppelin's projected trip to the north pole was seen today in an order from Secretary Good to Major General John L. Hines, commander of the Ninth Corps Area, at San Francisco, to extend every courtesy and facility to the Zeppelin. The dirigible is expected to stop at Fairbanks, Alaska, in that corps area, to refuel on its Arctic flight in April and May, 1930.

Good's order was sent at the request of Secretary of State Stimson.

GIRL HITCH-HIKER DETAINED BY COPS

CINCINNATI, O., Oct. 22.—A girl, who said she was Miss Emma Strovilla, 23, of Rochester, Long County, Ohio, was being held by police here awaiting word from the girl's relatives at Rochester.

Miss Strovilla was detained because she was attired in men's clothes. She said she was "hitch-hiking" her way from Tennessee to her home in Rochester.

COALITION MOVES TO RAISE AGRICULTURE TARIFF SCHEDULES

TAX REDUCTION FOR DECEMBER SESSION PROPOSED IN HOUSE

Treasury To Stand $300,000,000 Cut Is Reported

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Congressional action in the regular December session on a $300,000,000 tax reduction bill appeared probable today as both Republican and Democratic leaders on the house ways and means committee indicate their support of the movement.

Rep. Hawley (R) of Oregon, chairman of the committee, declared "the presumption is that there will be tax reduction in the coming session," while Rep. Gardner (D) of Texas, ranking minority member, asserted the treasury should stand a $300,000,000 slash.

Hawley planned an early conference with Secretary of the Treasury Mellon, who has already indicated the treasury will recommend a tax cut.

"I favor first consideration of a reduction of the corporation income tax in any tax bill," said Hawley. "The millions of individuals must pay a tax through the corporations much higher than the individual income tax rate. A reduction is necessary if tax burdens are to be equalized."

This program also favored by Garner, who advocates a cut in the corporation rate from 12 to 10 per cent, amounting to $200,000,000 a year.

Hawley also announced that experts of the joint congressional committee on taxation are studying the estate tax, but declined to comment pending their report. He is not ready to announce a stand on earned income slashes.

Garner's program includes raising the credit for earned income from 25 to 33 1/3 per cent to aid the salaried man, as well as removing the present limit of $20,000 within which the benefit applies. He would raise individual exemptions for single men from $1,500 to $2,000; married men, $2,500 to $4,000; dependants $400 to $600.

POLICE ARE PROBING MURDER OF LONARDO

CLEVELAND, Oct. 22.—Two theories were being traced to their roots by police investigators here today in an effort to solve the murder of Frank Lonardo, one time "silent partner" in the corn sugar business racket here, whose body was riddled with eight bullets while sitting at a card table Sunday night.

One theory is that Lonardo was slain in reprisal for the murder last June of Salvatore (Black Sam) Todaro, who, according to police opinion, was responsible for the killings of Frank's brothers, "Big Joe" and John Lonardo, two years ago.

The second theory is that Lonardo was killed because of his failure to pay off certain gambling debts which he had contracted.

Police are inclined to favor the first theory as the solution of the murder.

ACCUSE RICH WOMAN OF FRAMING HOLD-UP

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—After losing $15,000 in jewels and her $2,500 mink coat in a holdup, Mrs. Laura Price, 38, wife of a millionaire, today was under arrest on suspicion of fraud.

She admitted to authorities that the robbery last February was a sham and was planned by two jewelers and herself, police say.

Mrs. Price collected on a $20,500 insurance policy, sold the gems and divided with her co-conspirators, police say she admitted on questioning last night.

She told police that the plot was inspired by Morris A. Barnett, brother of the proprietor of an exclusive Chicago jewelry house, Barnett, according to her admissions, procured the services of Ben Levin and Jack Baum to act the robber roles. Max Krakow, a jeweler, was involved in her admissions.

All four men are in custody also.

FIVE EXECUTED IN RUSSIAN PLOT

RIGA, Oct. 22.—Following the Ogupis (Soviet secret police) discovery of a plot to weaken the Soviet army and industries and thus pave the way for a counter-revolutionary movement, five former generals in the Russian army were summarily executed, a Moscow dispatch received here today stated.

Both Groups Reject Thomas Plan; Attack 1922 Level

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—Confident they can rewrite the Hawley-Smoot tariff bill for the benefit of agriculture, leaders of the Democratic-Progressive Republican coalition of the senate today threw their machine into high speed with the expectation of passing the Hawley-Smoot bill within a month.

Not only will they boost the tariff schedules on agricultural products as fixed by the house and senate finance committee and lower the industrial rates, but they also will attack the level of industrial rates fixed in the Fordney-McCumber tariff act of 1922, leaders announced.

The new policy—to attack the tariff level set in the 1922 act—was evolved from the coalition's demonstration of absolute power to take tariff legislation entirely away from the administration.

The last thrust at tariff legislation as a whole, made by Sen. Thomas (D) of Oklahoma, who proposed to strike all but agricultural rates from the bill, was brushed aside by both regulars and the coalition, on the ground that the senate wants to enact tariff legislation.

"The proceedings in the consideration of administrative schedules has shown that there the power exists to enact rates which reflect the sentiment of the senate as a whole, which the bill drafted by the finance committee does not do," said Sen. Robinson of Arkansas, Democratic leader.

"It is more important to reduce some of the high industrial rates of the 1922 law which operate against agriculture, than to limit tariff legislation to agriculture," said Senator Norris (R), Nebraska, in announcing the plan to attack the Fordney-McCumber bill.

"It is reasonable to suppose we will be able to ward off any of the excessive rates carried in the present bill," said Sen. Simmons (D) of North Carolina, minority leader of the finance committee.

The senate began work on the chemical schedules today, with members of the coalition prepared to attack increases which they declare benefit the "dye trust" of the country unnecessarily.

BOTH CLEMENCEAU AND POINCARÉ ARE REPORTED BETTER

"Tiger" Has Passed Crisis; Now Able to Sit Up

PARIS, Oct. 22.—France's anxiety over the condition of her two war-time leaders, Georges Clemenceau and Raymond Poincaré, lessened slightly today.

The "grand old man" of France, today was believed to be on the safe side of a crisis brought on by a sudden, severe heart attack.

M. Poincaré, who yesterday underwent a second operation made necessary by the illness which forced him to resign from the premiership last July, today was making satisfactory progress.

The grim battle put up by M. Clemenceau against the effects of the heart attack yesterday was typical of the many political battles he had fought and won during his long and stormy career.

The attack was so severe that attending physicians administered oxygen five times and further thought it necessary to administer an injection of camphor to stimulate the 88 year old statesman's heart.

Yet "the Tiger," as he is affectionately known, maintained his cheerfulness throughout the ordeal and yesterday afternoon was so far recovered as to be able to sit up and write letters, according to an intimate friend who visited him.

REPORT LADY HEATH PLANNING DIVORCE ACTION IN NEVADA

Arrived In Reno By Accident But May File Suit

RENO, Nev., Oct. 22.—With disarming casualness, Lady Mary Heath, famous British flyer, today asserted she had no intention of filing divorce proceedings against Sir James Heath when she came to Reno.

But now that she is in Reno, she said that she may consider such an action.

"My nurse and myself were drifting west toward Los Angeles," she said, "when we decided to stop off at Reno. After spending six weeks in a hospital, I could not stand the noise of New York and I found Reno to be a very charming and restful city."

She was loathe to discuss her matrimonial affairs, but added, when pressed:

"Now that the matter of divorce has come up, I may consider it."

It is known that she has engaged attorneys.

Lady Heath came to the United States more than a year ago. She said today that she took out naturalization papers "because she felt in love with America."

"Sir James planned to come with me," she declared, "but he decided the prospect of two winter crossings was a bit too much. I planned to continue my flying career and had no difficulty in getting a position as a test pilot with the American Service Engineer, Inc., of Marysville, Mich."

"I have not lost my courage as the result of my accident at Cleveland, I intend to keep on flying."

Lady Heath disclosed that she did not remember anything of the crash which almost resulted in her death.

ROSENWALD OFFERS TO SUPPORT MUSEUM

VIENNA, Oct. 22.—Julius Rosenwald, millionaire philanthropist of Chicago, today offered to donate $50,000 annually to the Vienna Technical Museum.

Rosenwald made his offer conditional, the condition being that the Austrian government agree to contribute the same amount. Museum officials were certain that they could persuade the government to fulfill the condition.

TRAFFIC TIED UP BECAUSE OF FOG

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 22.—A "London-like fog" blanketed northern Ohio last night, causing one of the worst traffic tie ups in months, delaying busses and trains, and grounding air mail planes.

In Cleveland, traffic was forced to move at a snail's pace. Six collisions were attributed to the heavy rain and fog.

EMPIRE AIR CIRCUS WILL INAUGURATE THREE-DAY EXHIBITION WEDNESDAY

EDISON IS RESTING FROM EXCITING DAY OF WORLD TRIBUTE

Wizard Overcome By Emotional Strain Of Great Day

DEARBORN, Mich., Oct. 22.—Thomas A. Edison rested in the home of Henry Ford today that he might regain the strength he lost during an exciting day in which the world honored the 82-year-old inventor of the incandescent light.

The entire world paid him tribute last night and the pageantry arranged for the occasion proved too much for his waning strength.

Events of the day, participated in by President Hoover, Henry Ford and John D. Rockefeller, Jr., left him in a state of emotional exhaustion.

When he arose at the banquet table last night his voice faltered; tears dimmed his eyes as he spoke falteringly to the many notables who had gathered to pay him honor.

"I am told that my voice tonight will reach to the four corners of the world. This gives me an unusual opportunity to express the appreciation I feel for the honor that has been paid me. I would be more in honoring me you also are honoring that vast army of thinking men who have done much for the progress of the world in the past."

Einstein was trying to talk from Germany, the Prince of Wales from London and Byrd from the South Pole. Their voices were quite audible but the aged inventor could not hear. He broke down in visible emotion and was led from the banquet table by Dr. Joel T. Boone, the president's physician.

THIEF GETS $2,100

DAYTON, O., Oct. 22.—Search for a thief who broke the window of a downtown jewelry store here last night during the theater rush hour and escaped with $2,100 worth of diamonds, is in progress today.

JUDGE WRATH USES WRATH

Heavy Sentences Imposed By Jurist With Angry Name; Cuts Crime

HUNTINGTON, W. Va., Oct. 22.—Bandit careers of two "hard-boiled" guys, Trueheart Lawson, 26, and Jack Bell, 33, today had been ended by a typical "wrath sentence."

Lawson and Bell, who were convicted of a filling station robbery were also identified as bandits who held up and robbed the Community Savings and Loan Bank at Charleston but county authorities here refused to turn the pair over to Charleston police, preferring to prosecute them here and obtain the "wrath" cure.

When a common pleas court jury deliberated ten minutes and found both guilty, Judge H. Clay Wrath sentenced each to forty-five years in the state prison.

Lawson will have an additional six years to serve for escaping from the Moundsville penitentiary.

While the bandits were held here for trial, a plot was bared to blow up a section of the county jail. Later Sheriff Frank Tyree's aides discovered a small arsenal in Lawson's cell.

"Hard Guy" Bell's sole comment on the sentence was: "I guess I'll live that long."

The dapper Lawson left the courtroom with a cheery, "I'll be seeing you, Judge."

Judge Wrath's heavy sentences in the past four years have virtually suppressed major crime activities in this county, the "Wrath cure" being feared in the tri-state underworld.

Planes Coming At Noon To "Sell" Aviation To Xenians; Copies Of Gazettes And Merchants' Parachutes Will Be Dropped From Air.

WITH motors roaring and sleek wings shining, four green and gold airplanes of the Empire Air Circus will sweep over Xenia at noon Wednesday inaugurating a three-day series of free exhibitions designed to stimulate interest in aviation.

Their headquarters will be at the J. Weir Cooper farm field, on Dayton Pike, just west of the city. They will give their last exhibition at dark Friday night.

The airplanes, personnel and equipment of the circus will come here from Mansfield, where they are completing a four-day visit.

The noon program will open when the ships swing high above in diamond and line formation, and loop, spin, and dive. Following several minutes of exhibitions, Major William C. Brooks, in charge of the organization, will fly above the main streets and will release thirty copies of the Evening Gazette.

Inside of ten of these will be tickets for free rides, good when presented at Cooper field tomorrow afternoon, and when properly countersigned. Those who find the tickets will fly as guests of the Kiwanians and Rotarians, who are welcoming the circus to the city, hoping that its activity will further interest in an airport here.

In addition to the copies of the Gazette, the flyers will drop thirty-six parachutes, each with a tag entitling the finder to prizes at various Xenia stores. The offers of these merchants will be published in this paper and range from merchandise to credit slips.

The tickets will be dropped each day and they must be used on the same day that they are dropped.

Each afternoon at Cooper field there will be various exhibitions, which will include "dead-stick" landings and parachute jumps throughout the afternoon. There will be no admission or parking charges at the field.

Among the pilots and stunt men are Major William C. Brooks, Edward Stour, Benjamin Matthews, William Myers, James Scott and Ralph Rogers, all nationally known for their stunt work. This is the twenty-fifth city visited by the circus in the course of a national tour sponsored by the aviation society to increase interest in aviation.

EXPECT FALL TRIAL WILL REACH JURORS IN CASE WEDNESDAY

Defense Attorney Presents Argument Tuesday

WASHINGTON, Oct. 22.—The Fall bribery trial jury today will hear a story of super-patriotism, and of mellow friendship.

With only a few hours intervening before the jury takes the case and renders a verdict on whether the $100,000 former Secretary of Interior Albert B. Fall got from E. L. Doherty, the oil magnate, was a bribe for the leasing of the Elk Hills naval oil reserve, Frank J. Hogan, chief defense counsel, dusted off his now familiar spellbinder and prepared for an all-day argument. It is possible the case may go to the jury this afternoon, but more likely it will be tomorrow.

All day yesterday, the four women and eight men of the jury heard former Senator Alton Pomerene, of Ohio, denounce Fall as a corrupt official and Doherty as a sharp practitioner, but today Hogan will portray a pair of old friends who prospered and endured hardships together back in the gold rush days, the one who became wealthy, the other a mere pauper.

Doherty, who counts his millions by the score, looks upon $100,000 as the man of the street would regard $25, he will aver, and the leasing of that amount to Fall had nothing to do with the leasing of the Elk Hills reserve.

PICK-POCKET SHOT DURING ARGUMENT

CLEVELAND, Oct. 22.—An argument over the division of pick-pocket spoils was believed by police today to have been the cause of the wounding of Isadore Silverman, who is said to be known by police of seven cities.

Silverman was shot, according to detectives, by William Feldman, his alleged pick-pocket partner. The shooting took place in front of a smoke shop here. Both men are reported to have criminal records and are known to police of Pittsburgh, Philadelphia, New York, Newark and Brooklyn.

ATTORNEY MAY HALT BEQUEST OF HUBERT

CHICAGO, Oct. 22.—A Chicago attorney, Donald E. Malkes, today was planning an injunction to prevent Calvin Coolidge, Julius Rosenwald and Alfred E. Smith from disposing of an $8,000,000 charity bequest of the late Conrad Hubert, flashlight magnate.

Malkes announced that as soon as he receives a copy of the record of inheritance he will go to New York and file the injunction suit in surrogate court. The basis of his suit, he said, will be a charge of mental incompetency on the part of Hubert when he made the will.

According to Malkes, whose father was Hubert's cousin, Hubert was known as an eccentric. He refused to see either his sister or brother in New York, Malkes said.

Malkes also is acting for his sister, Mrs. Ruth Singer of Los Angeles, and hopes to get a portion of the estate for her as well as himself.

FAMOUS "IRON MAN" M'GINNITY IS ILL

NEW YORK, Oct. 22.—Joe McGinnity, 58, original "Iron Man" of baseball, was near death today as his home in Brooklyn, having failed to rally after an operation for the removal of a tumor three weeks ago.

McGinnity earned the title of "Iron Man" for his great durability on the mound, often pitching both games of a double-header.

HOOVER DEDICATES PIONEER MONUMENT FOR RIVER OPENING

Congratulates Ohio Valley In Finish Of Improvement

CINCINNATI, Oct. 22.—"A new agency of service now begins its quiet labors for mankind."

Thus simply, before a great crowd gathered today in Eden Park, did President Hoover today signalize the opening of the Ohio River to first class traffic from Pittsburgh to the Mississippi. It marked an event which the people of the Ohio River valley have long anticipated and hoped for.

The president spoke in Cincinnati just before boarding a river steamer for a leisurely journey down the Ohio River to Louisville, where, tomorrow night, he will inform the country more completely as to his policies for inland waterways development.

Cincinnati, the Queen City of Ohio, commemorated the complete opening of the river by dedicating a monument to the pioneers in the development of the stream.

The city was welcomed to the city by a small committee headed by Oscar F. Barrett, president of the Ohio Valley Improvement Association and city officials and was taken to the Gibson Hotel prior to going to Eden Park for the dedication of a monument.

The streets from the station to the hotel were lined with people. It is great pleasure to me to share in the dedication of this monument glorifying for all time the completion of a nine-foot channel for the full length of the Ohio River," the president said.

"The engineering mind, about which I see so much in the news papers here does come to surface and luxuriates in appreciation of a great engineering job well done. This new instrument of commerce, from which untold blessings will come today, is an enduring monument to those of my own profession whose lives are spent in devising means to increase the comfort and convenience of the world."

"But men of every mold have wrought with equal bravery in this transformation of the wild beauty of the Ohio River into the not less beautiful but more tractable stream of today. The engineer found the political means, but many others contributed to the vision, courage and persistence needful to this accomplishment."

"Statesmen, rivermen, and businessmen may share the glory. The elders present may well regret the absence of such stalwart figures as Col. William E. Merrill, and Captain William B. Rogers, whose ingenuity and dauntless faith bore so large a part of this achievement."

"I personally feel deeply the absence of Senator Theodore Burton, (of Ohio), at whose bedside in Washington I have recently stood. His work as chairman of the historic inland waterways commission, appointed by President Roosevelt in 1907, gave the foundation upon which this great development has been created. The report of that commission in 1908 has been the bible of waterways improvement. Its first result was the act of 1910, with which began the present project, now brought to successful conclusion. It reflected not only the clarity mind with which the senator has endowed public issues for a generation, but also the broad humanity of his spirit, that dwelt with special concern upon the problems of equity involved and upon the welfare of the whole body of men and women of the country for whose benefit the program was primarily taken."

"Of Speaker Longworth, who fortunately is present. It should be recalled that he was one of the founders of the Ohio Improvement Association and has both privately and as an officer of the government worked indefatigably in the cause of this development for more than a quarter of a century. He and his associates deserve high remembrance in the records of this achievement.

"But the whole Ohio Valley and the nation as well should be congratulated on this occasion. A new agency of service, now being its quiet labors for mankind. The path that led one Ohio boy to the White House has been modernized. But the opportunity has been expanded by the abandonment of the low-path for the engine. It is the glory of our scientific age that its sooty presses in the end bring results that make childhood stronger and happier and give to manhood and womanhood a life richer and more varied.

"This monument will ever remind the people of a great accomplishment."

Mr. Hoover came south after a day and night spent in the vast industrial empire which Henry Ford has thrown upon the banks of the river Rouge within a stone's throw of Detroit. To call Ford's establishment an empire is no figure of speech: it is an empire in fact, and he is the feudal ruler of it, from its acres of factories eating raw steel and spawning cars, to the idyllic early American village, a whim upon which he has spent three millions of dollars as a mere beginning.

Ultimately it will become a public park, a retreat to which the motorized and air-minded age may go and see and marvel at the manner in which the pioneers lived and had their being.

The roster of the guests at Henry Ford's dinner to his old friend Edison, in commemoration of the fiftieth anniversary of the perfection of the incandescent lamp, read like a financial and industrial bluebook of America. And from beyond the confines of his own country came messages to Edison, paying tribute to his genius. The Prince of Wales sent his greetings and best wishes. President Von Hindenburg of Germany, expressed his admiration in a message, and from elsewhere in the world came communications of esteem and respect for the man who gave the world the electric bulb that now glows from Tokio to Kamchatka.

President Hoover went from this banquet to his special train and left Detroit soon after midnight. The train was due in Cincinnati at 9 a. m.

Neither the President nor Mr. Hoover apparently suffered any ill-effects from the drenching they received yesterday in riding for several hours in a chill October drizzle through cheering lanes of damp Detroiters.

Friends of Thomas A. Edison felt some concern today over his condition.

The stirring events of yesterday, culminating in last night's banquet at which he was acclaimed as have been few other scientists in the world's history, told heavily on the aged inventor, and he was under the doctor's care when he retired last night at the home of his friend, Henry Ford. Mr. Edison is 82 years old.

At the conclusion of his brief speech last night before the distinguished gathering that honored him, Mr. Edison was forced to lie down for a time. He was overcome by the emotions induced by a strenuous day.

"It's been a great day," he said simply as he was helped to a couch in an ante-room, by Dr. Joel Boone, the White House physician.

Mr. Edison left the banquet hall before the conclusion of speaking. He was very tired, but his spirit was still indomitable.

"Wake me up," he said, "before the President leaves."

When President Hoover made ready to leave the banquet hall, the aged inventor rose from his couch.

"Good-bye, Mr. President, it has been a great day," he said.

"Good-bye Mr. Edison, indeed it has," said the president.

Later, Dr. Boone took the 82 year old veteran to the home of his friend, Henry Ford and saw him to bed.

The wizard of Menlo Park thought it wasn't necessary, but his friends thought it was.

EX-XENIAN SHOWS
HOW IT'S DONE

W. C. T. Ayres, Jr., Columbus, former Xenian, can now set himself up as a drum major instructor par excellence.

When Ayres, one of the strutting drum majors in these parts, strutted his stuff one day at the head of the band of one of Columbus' Negro National Guard companies, he inspired ambition in the heart of William C. Finley, Columbus newsboy.

Young Finley decided that Ayres showed perfect technique in the art of drum majoring, a position for which the youth had secret longing. He sought out and demanded to know how he twirled the big stick with such bewildering gyrations.

For two years Ayres tutored the lad, drilling him in the mysteries of the art of strutting, swinging the baton and the details of the art of drum majoring. Last Saturday Finley "graduated," the commencement exercises being his drum majoring at the head of the Columbus' North High School band. The applause of a football crowd served as his diploma.

Finley strutted his stuff at the head of the band resplendent in scarlet, white and gold costumes, even as his instructor had taught him. And his day was filled with happiness.

HOBBY
The Gazette lately told about Alvin Good, expert Cleveland stamp collector, who recently sold $800 one-cent stamps, face value, $8.00 for $6,000.00, the first one-cent stamps printed by the United States government in 1851. A few years ago I attended at Cleveland a philatelic exhibition where many thousands of dollars was on exhibition. I learned then that sizable fortunes have come to some boys and girls who have taken up the stamp collecting hobby just for pleasure—not thinking at the time about making money out of the hobby. Arthur Hind is the foremost collector of postage stamps in the United States. Arthur Hind came to the United States forty years ago to found a plush factory. He began on a small scale—he is now wealthy, living at Utica, N. Y. He was lonely and wanted something to occupy his evenings so he took up the hobby of collecting postage stamps. He spends four or five evenings each week inspecting, listing and cataloging stamps. Were he to stop purchasing specimens now, he would still have five or six years' work ahead of him, sorting and arranging loose stamps. Mr. Hind thinks nothing of spending $40,000 for a rarity. At the New York International Philatelic Exposition in 1926 he exhibited in five different classes—general collections of United States, Spain, India, native and federated stamps and rarities, receiving first award in each class. There are hundreds of thousands of stamps in his collection, the value of which totals millions of dollars.

This hobby of collecting stamps you can see how easily can turn into money, when you consider that fifty rarest total valuation conservatively set at $400,000. About two thousand dealers in the U. S. alone who make a living from a hobby that is giving new enthusiasts at a rate estimated at $50,000 a year.

Not long ago a Philadelphia bank moved into a larger building. The attendant on moving the bank sold a lot of papers of apparently no value to a junk dealer for $15.00. The junk man did not know the value of stamps. Some of those which were affixed to old envelopes in the bundles of paper he had bought, he took them to a dealer with the result that the little transaction in old papers netted him $75,000.

A post office clerk noticed an error on a sheet of airplane stamps in 1918. This stamp was printed in two colors necessitating the use of two separate dies. When fed through the press the second time the sheet was upside down with the result that the picture of the airplane on them was inverted. The clerk paid the face value $24.00 for the sheet at a Washington post office, then quickly sold the stamps to a Philadelphia dealer for $15,000.

The dealers make a lucrative business out of this hobby. The stamp hobby teaches something even if you confine yourself to current U. S. issues alone. You dig enough facts to warrant a fairly decent knowledge. The largest denomination of regularly issued U. S. postage stamps is $5.00. The five dollar stamp bears the Statue of Liberty in two colors—and is used largely by banks for mailing of heavy bags containing coin.

Martha Washington's portrait adorns one of our U. S. stamps. Her picture is on the 40-cent stamp. Charles A. Lindbergh is the only American honored while living by having postage stamps created in his honor. Shortly after his return from Paris to America, a ten cent airmail stamp was issued by the U. S. government on which was engraved a picture of Colonel Lindbergh's plane, the Spirit of St. Louis. Lindbergh has been honored philatelicly—first by his own country, then his journey to Genoa and South American lands has been commemorated postally by Panama, Costa Rica, Haiti and Cuba. Philip Farrary, of Paris who died during the World War bequeathed his stamp collection to the postal museum of Berlin. It was seized by the French government and sold at auction for $1,400,000.00. Arthur Hind bought a large part of it. Fabulous prices are paid daily and makes this hobby interesting. One Clinton County, Ohio school boy (Clarence Dwiggen), was the despair of all his teachers except one who encouraged him in his hobby. Clarence would make pictures on his desk, the floor, blackboard, the wall and everywhere else a cartoon could be made. That was over fifty years ago. Today he lives at Los Angeles, married, has four fine sons and still at his hobby which brings a lucrative business. Next to religion a hobby hard ridden makes for good sound stability of character. There is such a varied list of hobbies. Mrs. Coolidge and Mrs. Hoover make flowers their hobby. Henry Ford's hobby is gathering old relics. The pleasure is great. Cupid is quite active with hobby collectors one of the attractive features, the beautiful and lasting romance.

Give Joint Recital

MISS Mildred Mason, Xenia, and her sister-in-law, Mrs. J. B. Mason, Wilmington Pike, will be presented in a joint recital by the dramatic art department of the Proctor School of Music, Dayton, at the Christ Church Parish House Thursday evening, November 7, at 8 o'clock.

ENTERTAINED ON GOLDEN WEDDING ANNIVERSARY

Mr. and Mrs. Ert Huston, Mr. and Mrs. Ray Huston, Mr. and Mrs. Ross Huston and Mr. and Mrs. Norman Leach, delightfully entertained about fifty relatives last Wednesday for the pleasure of their parents, Mr. and Mrs. A. J. Huston, at their home, the occasion being their golden wedding anniversary.

The house was beautifully decorated for the occasion, large baskets of yellow chrysanthemums and other fall flowers being used. A social time was enjoyed and a delicious two-course dinner was served. During the afternoon a poem which was written by one of the nieces was read, as follows: "Let's Go Back to Grandma's" Just fifty years ago,

Where "bouncing bettys" and "holly holly" and great tall pine trees grow.

Back to the house on the corner, Where Grandma lived with pride, And to the night in October— When Aunt Emma was a beautiful bride.

Dressed in lovely silk and laces— With a tall handsome man beside her.

Strolling through the clear old hall, Fifty years have passed away and children you have them still, Let us wish them many more years, And pray this will be God's will.

—C. E. S.

The honor guests were presented many useful and dainty gifts.

JUDGE ALLEN WILL ADDRESS CLUB WOMEN

Judge Florence Allen of the Ohio Supreme Court will be the banquet speaker when the southwestern district of the Ohio Federation of Business and Professional Women's Clubs holds its regional meeting this year in Cincinnati, beginning Saturday, November 2 and lasting two days.

It is hoped that a large representation from the local club will be present. All members interested and who are planning to attend the meeting are asked to notify Mrs. Elizabeth Anderson not later than Thursday noon; so she may make reservations.

Headquarters for the meeting will be at the Hotel Sinton. The banquet will be held in that hotel Saturday evening at 8 o'clock for $2 a plate.

An interesting program of guest music by the Cincinnati Civic Club and Mrs. E. Fern Flint is being arranged. A tea on Saturday afternoon will be served by the hotel and breakfast Sunday morning will be served there. Open forum at the Cincinnati B. P. W. C. will be at 10 o'clock Sunday morning. "Attendance in uniform and neatness will aid our troop in obtaining a good rating," the Scoutmaster declares.

All Scout troops in the district will be inspected on various dates.

MOTHERS 'now learn value of MAGNESIA

Because it is so helpful in keeping babies and children healthy and happy, every mother should know about Phillips Milk of Magnesia.

This is harmless, pleasant-tasting, and most tasteless preparation is most effective in relieving those symptoms of babies and children generally caused by souring food in the little digestive tract, such as sour-belching, frequent vomiting, feverishness, colic. As a mild laxative, it acts gently, but certainly, to open the little bowels in constipation, colds, children's diseases.

A teaspoonful of Phillips Milk of Magnesia does the work of half a pint of lime water in neutralizing cow's milk for infant feeding, and preventing hard curds. Its many uses for mother and child are fully explained in the interesting book "Useful Information." It will be sent you, FREE, Write The Phillips Co., 117 Hudson St., New York N. Y.

In buying, be sure to get genuine Phillips Milk of Magnesia. Doctors have prescribed it for over 50 years.

"Milk of Magnesia" has been the U. S. Registered Trade Mark of The Chas. H. Phillips Chemical Co., and its predecessor, Chas. H. Phillips, since 1875. Adv.

WHEN IN DOUBT WHAT TO DO WITH THE OLD FURNACE CONSIDER GAS

To spend money for the needed repairs on the old furnace, with the foreknowledge that it won't last many more years, at best, or to get a new furnace or boiler, or to install gas heat... that is the question for your immediate solution.

When all the facts and advantages are carefully weighed, gas heat recommends itself most convincingly to the man of judgment. Gas heat means: no fuel to store and pay for in advance; no space in the basement for storage; a cleaner basement; no lifting of tons of fuel and ashes by the shovelful; no clouds of ashes... and no cross words from the wife about it. No "stoking down" and coaxing fires on cold mornings... no attention at all, if you have the automatic control device to "stoke" your gas-fired furnace or boiler, and give you a home evenly heated in the first cool days of fall or the bitterest winter weather. Here is a test for your judgment, and the happiness and health of your family depends upon your decision.

Get the information and an estimate of the investment in home heating equipment by phoning us. No obligation.

BIBLE THOUGHTS FOR TODAY

PREPARATION — John cried saying, Prepare ye the way of the Lord, make his paths straight. Every valley shall be filled, and every mountain and hill shall be brought low, and the crooked shall be made straight, and the rough ways shall be made smooth; And all flesh shall see the salvation of God.—Luke 3:4, 5, 6.

ABOUT CENSORSHIP

In the opinion of Senator Cutting, of New Mexico, clerks in the United States Bureau of Customs are not fitted for the task of censoring so-called obscene or treasonable literature sent over here from abroad. The senator took a determined and temporarily successful stand last week in the upper house of congress in an effort to eliminate a section of the tariff bill directing customs officials to refuse entry to such books.

The senator appeared primed for argument with a list of 739 books barred during 1928, of which 379 were written in Spanish, 231 in French, 10 in German, 5 in Italian and 114 in English. He declined to read the list into the record because he declared that he had no wish "to imperil public morals."

Though the senator was apparently more concerned with the quality of the censorship than with the fact that such supervision is needed, yet his dissatisfaction is justifiable. The problems of discriminating censorship are too complicated for solution by any group of clerks. It is even difficult to imagine the personnel of an ideal body of censors. One man's literary meat will still remain another's literary poison.

If, however, the purpose of such censorship is to keep from the young people of the land neurotic, erotic, pathological writings which shock the growing mind and turn its thoughts into unwholesome channels something might be done aside from the tariff bill. Both news stands and book stores offer cheap publications that have not even the debatable excuse of honest, artistic attempt at an expression of truth to justify their yarns of love and romance. Boys and girls may purchase this shoddy for small sums, while the price of imported obscenity is at least likely to be prohibitive, putting it beyond the reach of impecunious youngsters.

The total of 739 books excluded last year by the customs censors does not compare with the amount of trash poured out monthly after month for home consumption. Without necessarily being obscene, much of it is as dangerous to immature minds as "Candide" or "Lysistrata;" and at least to read these in the originals one must have used his mind enough to have learned French and Greek, which is more than the rouged or sleek-haired "confession hounds" will bestir themselves to do.

And of course, the flattering reception Premier MacDonald received over here isn't going to hurt him any with his constituency back home.

Washington reports that a nation-wide traffic jam is in prospect. Then the era of the too level highway is drawing near.

Maybe, as Mr. Ford says, women are not mechanically-minded, but we have known women who have had to drive nails and put up stoves while their husbands stood by helplessly.

Bo-Broadway

By JOSEPH VAN RAALTE

NEW YORK, Oct. 18.—Norman Thomas, the Socialist majority candidate, is gifted with a sense of humor which if not so flamboyant as that of Messrs. Walker and La Guardia, is nevertheless rich and droll.

"If by some miracle you should be elected mayor," a friend recently asked him, "do you think you could preserve your sense of humor?"

"If one miracle could happen, I think the other could," replied Mr. Thomas.

ISN'T THAT THE WAY?

Old Laurence Stallings, co-author of "What Price Glory," was a copywriter on the New York World when Fortune arched her brows at him and they went arm in arm from Park Row to Broadway and Hollywood.

Back in the days when he was mulling over the plot and structure of his famous play he invited one of the feature writers on the show to collaborate.

"I'm sorry, old man," replied the self-sufficient scribe, who, to tell the truth, wasn't particularly flattered by an offer at collaboration from a mere copywriter.—"I'm sorry, but I think it would be a waste of time. Anyway, I'm working on a play of my own just now. Why don't you get someone else?"

Stallings got another collaborator and cleaned up a million on the show and today is growing tobacco down North Calina way while the self-satisfied scribe who turned down the offer to go fifty-fifty on a million dollar split is still hammering the clatter-split at "The Boss" best.

A HUMOR WOMEN'S Members of the Women's Press Club, seasoned crusaders for women's rights, are mobilized on the field of humor to do battle for sex equality. A humor contest, open to all women not members of the Press Club, will be the first step in the campaign to convince incredulous men and over-modest women that woman's wit is equal, and possibly superior, to that of the opposite sex.

HATS OFF TO FRITZI SCHEFF

Fritzi Scheff was dragged out of her seclusion the other night and reappeared after a lapse of 20 years in Victor Herbert's Mile. Modiste. And a sophisticated first night audience got up on its hind legs and cheered until the rafters rang. When it came to the "Kiss Me Again" refrain Fritzi began it and the gang finished it to her, and the same a they used to do in the days of screen songs, in vaudeville. Then they clapped and stamped and cheered and it all had to be done over again.

That's the beauty of New York. It's large enough and sufficiently nonchalant and rich and brightly and glamorous to have the courage to do what it jolly well pleases—and the devil take anyone who thinks differently.

THE WAY of the WORLD

By GROVE PATTERSON

AS TO GENIUS

Many young people spent a lot of time wishing they had genius. The only success they seem able to visualize or understand is the sudden success that sometimes comes through the possession of unusual talent. Their attention might be called to this paragraph by Julius Ralph: "I do not despise genius—indeed, I wish I had a basket of it instead of a brain. But yet, after a great deal of experience and observation, I have become convinced that industry is a better horse to ride than genius. It may never carry any one man as far as genius has carried individuals, but industry—patient, steady, intelligent industry—will carry thousands into comfort and even into celebrity, and this it does with absolute certainty; whereas genius often refuses to be tamed and managed, and often goes with wretched morals. If you are to wish for either, wish for industry."

A GOOD POLICY

A successful man was once asked to set forth in a few words the policy that has accounted for his success. He said: "My policy has been to take up one thing after another and handle it the best way I could, without excitement or worry or running around in circles. Just one thing after another—doing the best I could."

That is a simple policy, simply stated. There is a great deal in it. It works.

IN TWENTY MINUTES

It is said the Spanish war was won in 20 minutes. It took only that long to destroy the fleet. One thinks of that when he hears over-talkative people trying to do business in a conference. So many of us are not content with stating our position, simply and fairly. We insist on elaborating, repeating, bringing in matter which does not belong in the discussion, wasting time and becoming the issue. So many questions can be perfectly answered by "yes" or "no." Most matters can be handled in a sentence—if we just had will-power enough to stop talking.

CO-OPERATION

If you live in a town which has an automobile club, join it. Every day you are on the road, your driving is made more comfortable and more safe because of the club. Continued efforts of auto clubs, roads in this country are coming to be splendidly marked, abuses corrected, and accidents cut down in number by the work of motor organizations. You who do not belong to the club and pay no dues go out on the road and enjoy the benefits of something you have not helped to pay for. It is not fair.

PLANS FOR INTER-AMERICAN HIGHWAY SYSTEM OUTLINED

By T. L. ODDIE

Senator From Nevada (Tasker Louwides Oddie) was born at Brooklyn, N. Y., October 24, 1870. He is a graduate of New York university. For two years he was engaged in real estate in New York City. He went to Nevada in 1898 and became engaged in mining operations. From 1904 to 1908 he was a member of the Nevada senate. He was governor of Nevada from 1910 to 1924. In 1921 he was elected U. S. senator and has been returned each term since. He is a Republican.

Leaders of American republicans are effectively working out high-ways transportation programs, in connection with the proposed inter-American highway, that will make the scenic splendors and natural resources of all countries of the Americas accessible to the international motorist.

Rapid transportation is a vital necessity to the economic welfare of every nation. The aeronautics branch of the department of commerce feels that a suitable system of highways will aid materially in the development of a comprehensive system of inter-American airways.

NOT ONLY WILL SUCH A HIGHWAY SYSTEM INCREASE THE SAFETY OF THE TRIP

Not only will such a highway system increase the safety of the trip by furnishing facilities for the establishment and maintenance of air navigation aids and for the movement of aircraft fuel and supplies; it will also provide the "ground feeder" lines which are so essential to the full utilization of air commerce with all its marvelous possibilities. In order to obtain maximum prosperity and amity for each of the nations of North, South, and Central America, men, money, mail and merchandise should be transported with the least possible delay. An inter-American highway system, therefore, will be a distinct adjunct to the inter-American railway, waterway, and skyway systems which will soon link the new world together with indis-soluble ties of business and friendship.

Latin American countries are today where the United States stood in the point of road construction prior to the federal aid road act of 1916. There is one important difference, however, and that is that the need for motor transportation is much more clearly understood and

How To Achieve Beauty

By MME. HELENA RUBINSTEIN

For a great many years Europe has used the waters places on the continent as Meccas for those seeking health, youth and beauty. Many of us the joy of playing and rushing about in a vacation—vacation having a slightly different meaning than we have here for freedom of gayety and excitement, and we generally exhaust ourselves — pursuing pleasure.

Europeans, on the other hand, seek the waters places and sanatoriums even when they are not actually ill. They take rest cures, live a special routine existence, especially planned for them by the doctor in charge, and go back to their desks, their homes and their activities with renewed energy.

I shall not argue the merits of the two systems. For a great many of us the joy of playing and rushing around is more important because it renews our spirit and gives life new color. This sometimes is more important than special physical care. But there is much to be learned from these cures which can be useful in our own homes. How fat, sagging muscles are reduced, tired lines ironed out, and worn nerves soothed.

Therefore, while the elite are spending weeks at Mont-Dore, Baden-Baden, Karlsbad, and all the other resorts which have grown famous all over the world, I shall tell you as much in detail as space permits, about these experiences. Their diet, their exercise, their periods of rest, and you can most likely gather from this information some special phase of health care which interests you at the moment.

It is good to remember that the keynote of these cures, particularly in Germany, is moderation — eating, exercising and playing in moderation. The only thing which is done excessively is sleeping, but I suppose we may excuse it, since the guests are there for rest.

In my next talk I shall discuss exercise, since that is so important to woman, for it not only has to do with health, but also with beauty of form.

man, "when Teddy Roosevelt was fighting for construction of the Panama canal, and all his advisers warned him that his plan was hopeless because it was against the law, I understand he said 'Damn the law! I intend to dig that canal, anyway!'"

"I certainly cannot imagine him trying to get results, of any sort, by appointing a lot of commissions."

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

MEAT HINT

Cold Sliced Meat
Hashed Brown Potatoes
Chili Sauce Perfection Salad
Dance Pudding with Whipped Cream
Sauce with Lemon

I am suggesting this as a luncheon or supper menu. Hot rolls or muffins may be served with it. The potatoes and salad would serve four.

Today's Recipes

Hashed Brown Potatoes — One-third cup salt pork or bacon fat, three cups chopped boiled potatoes, salt and pepper. Heat the fat in a heavy frying pan and add the potatoes, finely chopped and well seasoned. Stir until the fat is well mixed. Season to taste and let brown underneath. Fold like an omelet.

Perfection Salad—One tablespoon gelatin or one-half package lemon gelatin, one-quarter cup cold water, one cup boiling water, one-quarter cup mild vinegar, one tablespoon lemon juice, one-quarter cup sugar, one-half cup cabbage, finely chopped, one cup carrots, cut in small pieces, one pineapple or fresh sweet red and green peppers, salt to taste. Soften gelatin in cold water, add boiling water and stir until dissolved, then add sugar, vinegar, lemon juice and salt. When sugar is dissolved, strain. When mixture has been stirred add remaining ingredients. Turn into mold that has been first dipped in cold water and chill. Cut in blocks and serve on lettuce leaves or endive. Garnish with mayonnaise.

Date Pudding—Two eggs, two tablespoons flour, one teaspoon baking powder, one cup chopped nuts, one cup chopped dates, three-fourths cup sugar. Beat eggs, add sugar, sift in flour and baking powder and add walnuts and dates. Bake in greased pan 30 to 40 minutes. Serve in squares with whipped cream.

Suggestions

Varnished Linoleum Easy to Clean. A protective covering of varnish will make linoleum last longer and help to keep the kitchen floor attractive and clean. Varnishing is not a difficult process. Before you begin make sure that the linoleum is spotlessly clean. Go over a small area at a time with mild soap and lukewarm water or a soap jelly. Rinse and wipe each part thoroughly dry before proceeding to the next. Avoid flooding the surface with water, as this is likely to rot the fabric. Then apply the first coat of varnish, wait until it is dry, and go over the surface a second time.

Corn Bread—One cup flour, four teaspoons baking powder, one teaspoon sugar, one-half cup meal, one egg, one and one-half cups milk, four tablespoons melted shortening. Sift together flour, baking powder, sugar and salt. Add corn meal beaten egg and milk to make a stiff batter. Add shortening and beat until light and thorough. Mix. Pour into greased shallow pan. Bake in hot oven (425 degrees Fahrenheit) about 25 minutes.

"Nevertheless," I suggested, "supposing Mussolini in the White House—would he adapt himself to American institutions?—or would they have to yield to his temperance?"

"Well," reflected the congressman, "when Teddy Roosevelt was fighting for construction of the Panama canal, and all his advisers warned him that his plan was hopeless because it was against the law, I understand he said 'Damn the law! I intend to dig that canal, anyway!'"

Diet and Health

By LULU HUNT PETERS, M. D.

Author of "Diet and Health" and "Diet for Children"

Why Does She Gain?

"I am 5 feet 3 1-2 inches tall, and have lost 30 pounds by following your instructions. I reckon that 1900 calories daily is my maintenance number, but, darn it, I gain on it! I have to go as low as 600 to 700 to lose. Why is this? I am in perfect health, and have an enormous appetite. Is there anything else besides counting my calories that I can do? I want to lose faster; it discourages me to lose so slowly. Please tell me how many calories in bran, and in canned vegetable soup?"

"MISS C."

At 5 feet 3 1-2 inches, with ordinary activity, you should lose about 1900 calories, but I imagine that you are actually making up for the 1900 calories you are saving by eating extra calories make your average come up over your maintenance.

Then, another possibility: Perhaps you haven't gone long enough on the 1900 calories diet to see results. The water balance factor that I have spoken of so often may enter into it. Perhaps the day before you weigh yourself, your diet has been such that even though it has been high in calories, it causes a retention of water in the body cells. Salty foods will do this, and also concentrated sweets and candy, and this is one of the reasons we advise those who are reducing to use very little of these foods. In order to judge whether you have lost from one week to another, your diet should be composed of approximately the same food (and should be the same food previously, or at least for one day, on account of its water balance factor).

One of the followers recently wrote that she was off her reducing diet and was eating between meals for three days, and she was more than resentfully astonished when she found she had gained seven pounds in that short time—could it be possible? Sady! I answer, Yes. I've done it many times myself! The fact of the matter is I've found my scales have gone up even in one day's time, as high as three pounds, when I have had a good dinner and a midnight supper as well. This gain, of course, is not all fat. It is the water retention again. However, some of it is fat.

In the next experience I had with reducing, I found that unless I went on a very low calorie diet the day following my gain, it took me five days to get down to where I was before my little food debacle.

Is there anything besides counting calories to help reduce? Yes, and it is something you should do, if it is not contra-indicated. It is this: to exercise more. Try to walk two or three miles a day, briskly, besides some active stretching exercises. At the same time you are reducing your fat, you want to tone up your muscles.

Cereal bran is two-thirds of a cup to the 100 C. Canned vegetable soup is listed as 26 ounces to the 100 C. Evidently there is not much fat in it. So you could have a good eight-ounce bowl of, for about 35 C. And, by the way, clear, vegetable or meat consommé without any fat, is listed as 32 ounces to the 100 C. So you can have 8 ounces of this for only 25 C. It's a good plan, in the reducing diet, to have a good bowl of hot consommé for each meal, for it helps to fill that greedy tummy.

Do you put down the calories for every mouthful you take between meals as well as at meals? That's the only way you can tell how many you are getting.

Those who need instructions on how to reduce or gain may have our pamphlet on the subject by following columnar rules. We also have an article outlining some splendid exercises called the Tummy Ten.

Living and Loving

By MRS. VIRGINIA LEE

"Dear Virginia Lee: Here is someone who is not writing about themselves. Our brother met a lovely girl while we were away this summer, whom he thought he liked very much and showed it in every possible way. She thought he meant it and returned his affections."

"He dropped her flat when her sister came, and acted the same toward her. The first one set, back book, pictures, dresses, belt, watch chain, ring, pin, cuff links or studs for dress wear, neck scarf, gloves, slippers, dressing gown or jacket. Will this help?"

It looks very much, girls, as if the brother did not know his own mind and is taken with every charming new girl he meets. It may be, however, that he really cares for this girl, the sister of the one he liked first. Time will settle that matter. It's too bad about the first girl, but there's nothing we can do about it, I guess.

"Dear Virginia Lee: Would you kindly advise me as to what would be a suitable gift for my fiancé? This must be outside of the smoking line.

"Prisecilla."

The line of Christmas gifts which I suggested the other day would be appropriate for any "lame" Bill, book, note book, stationery, desk set, book ends, books, pictures, leather shaving case or traveling bag, dressing case, military brushes, belt, watch chain, ring, pin, cuff links or studs for dress wear, neck scarf, gloves, slippers, dressing gown or jacket. Will this help?"

WH TWO: So you think that if I answer real soon your broken hearts will be mended, do you? I think you don't know what trout little and heartaches are. Such silly worries. The boys aren't taking these affairs seriously, so to serve.

Peter's Adventures

By MRS. FLORENCE SMITH VINCENT

A TRAP FOR THE GREEDY

"In the heart of a honeysuckle! I never expected to be there, but I couldn't well imagine a more delightful spot." Peter actually sighed for delight. "Are we going to spend the night here?"

"I should say not," answered Moon-Moth. "Our flying has only begun. We've a long way yet to go. Don't I hear my brothers calling? They have flown ahead and discovered something. We'll hurry up and find out what."

Peter couldn't see far ahead of his eyes, but he didn't like to admit it. However, just as he was straining his eyes to peer through the darkness, the Moon-Moth had alighted on the trunk of a tree and that just below him on the trunk hung something that the boy decided must be a rag covered with sticky sugar. Anyway, whatever it was, on it the moths were greedily feeding.

Snick spread out for the Moon-Moths to enjoy! Peter grew suspicious. So did another of the flyers sailing close beside him. "I don't like the looks of this at all," murmured Hawk-Moth to Moon-Moth. "Anything that comes so easily is not safe to take. I'll bet you this is a trap."

"It's a catch us," added Moon-Moth, and Peter could feel him shiver. Peter had been straining his eyes to see if he could make any discovery that would be of use to his friends and now he noticed—was sure he did—something moving above the heads of the feasting moths.

"It is a trap, it is!" cried Peter in great excitement. "I am sure those moths are going to be caught in a net. Call your friends! Warn them, warn them quickly or it will be too late. Death Hawk-Moth!"

Maybe General Hawk, who had been busily eating, heard the cry. Maybe instinct had told him something was queer. At any rate, he gave that queer little squeak of his and it so startled his companions that with outstretched wings they rose into the air just in time to escape a net in which a man was trying to catch them.

"Help, help, help!" the fleeing moths heard the despairing cries and, trembling, turned about to see what had happened. By the light of the moon Peter saw to his dismay that not all of his friends had been fortunate enough to escape several of them had been too greedy for their own good. Thinking of nothing but devouring as much of the sticky syrup as they could hold—beefed they heard they had not been Death-Head's warning. And they paid for their recklessness.

They caught fast in the net. Peter cheered. Something told him that never again would the captives fly by the light of the moon.

CHEST DRIVE OPP ORTUNITY-NOT RESPONSIBILITY WORKERS TOLD

"You have before you an opportunity—not any obligation." In this phrase Mason Douglas prominent Dayton attorney, principal speaker at a "booster" meeting of more than 100 prospective chest workers at the Elks' Club Tuesday noon, summed up the theme and set in motion the wheels for the second annual Community Chest drive to be conducted in Xenia from November 19 to 26, inclusive.

"You have before you an opportunity to show that Xenia has a heart worthy of its name of gracious hospitality," Attorney Douglas declared.

A community chest, he pointed out, is now past the experimental stage, having been operated efficiently in Dayton for nearly ten years and is in existence in almost all cities, both large and small.

Declaring that such a drive enlists the support of the entire city, the speaker explained that it is an intelligent plan of mutual helpfulness which applies business methods to the financial side of social work without losing sight of personal interest.

"It avoids duplication of service without curtailing it and makes for adoption of better standards. It gives everyone an opportunity to contribute his just share. It is a great humanitarian enterprise, which is non-political, non-partisan and non-sectarian. It appeals to all classes of citizens."

"In Dayton the chest was adopted as the most scientific way to express common responsibilities. Since it is infinitely better to prevent things than to cure them we also have constructive agencies among the thirty-three organizations that participate in the fund."

"Xenia's welfare is a part of Dayton's welfare. We are all trying to build up better citizenship. We are not trying to give just to the things that need a lift but to raise the standard of living. That is a big part of the chest."

"Our chest is organized just as efficiently as any business and is administered with the same degree of business acumen."

"A community development speaks community responsibility. It makes everybody inter-dependent. We are each one of us extremely dependent upon the activities and welfare of other people."

Attorney Douglas was introduced by Edwin Galloway, who has been selected as general chairman of Xenia's coming chest drive, and who sounded the keynote of the campaign.

Chairman Galloway declared that the keynote is everybody; that it means everybody in Xenia; that it means it will be the duty of everybody in Xenia to give; that everybody in Xenia will have a part in the community chest, and that the smallest gift will be as welcome as the largest.

It was also revealed that the city will be divided into fourteen districts for the general solicitation campaign of the chest workers. Over each district will be a regional supervisor who will have under him a corps of workers to make the canvass of the city. No pledges were received at the "booster" meeting except pledges of co-operation in the approaching drive and the enthusiasm of those in attendance was of an unprecedented community nature.

The get-together meeting opened with the singing of "America" by the assembly and a brief talk by City Auditor T. H. Zell, who successfully directed the first chest drive last year and who introduced the new chairman, Mr. Galloway. The luncheon was served by Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Kany.

AND YOU, BRUTUS!

NOT even Coach Walter "Pinky" Wilson could escape the injury jinx that has crippled Xenia Central High's "Buccaneers" football squad this season it seems.

Returning to Xenia from his home in New Concord, O., where he spent the week end, Coach Wilson sustained a painful but not serious injury to the left shoulder when the roadster he was driving skidded on a highway made slippery by rain and overturned in a ditch near London early Sunday night. No bones were broken, however, it was disclosed in an examination made by a local physician. The car was damaged.

"MUTT AND JEFF" AT OPERA HOUSE HERE

New adventures will be experienced by "Mutt and Jeff," celebrated comic strip pair, when they appear in the Opera House Wednesday night in the musical comedy "Mutt and Jeff's Honeymoon."

The famous Bud Fisher cartoon creations are reported to be at their best in this production, which will be presented in two acts and six scenes.

Twenty-five special song hits, pretentious scenic equipment, pretty costumes and prettier girls are promised by the advance notices for the coming attraction, which will open the winter legitimate theater season here. The lines of the piece are reported to be bright and funny, and many unusual features and novelties help to make the show real entertainment.

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 22.—The storm warning which was issued in New York City and which predicted storm conditions for Ohio today should not cause any undue alarm in the Buckeye State, W. G. Alexander, United States government observer here stated today.

High winds will prevail generally over the state late this afternoon and tonight, he said, but they will not be of sufficient intensity to cause any property damage. He issued a warning to airplane pilots, however.

The weatherman declared the disturbance reported over Ohio would move eastward before it had gained its full intensity and that it may reach storm proportions over Pennsylvania, western Maryland and western New York.

Alexander predicted that there would be rain squalls throughout Ohio today and tonight and that the weather would then turn colder, dropping to about forty degrees.

This temperature will continue over the week-end, he said.

Asked by an international News Service reporter if the disturbance would usher in the winter season, he said that he could not forecast accurately the weather for more than a week ahead, but that he believed Ohio was in for a cold spell.

When Vicks VapoRub was introduced, mothers especially were quick to appreciate it, because it is just rubbed on and cannot upset children's delicate stomachs, as "dosing" is so apt to do. Of course it is equally good for adults.

Today, the whole trend of medical practice is away from needless "dosing," and the demand for Vicks has grown until it is necessary to again raise the famous slogan. There are now "Over 26 Million Jars Used Yearly."

BASEBALL SMOKERY FORMS COURT TEAM

Plans for the organization of a strong Class A independent basketball team under auspices of the "Baseball Smokery" were disclosed Tuesday with announcement that candidates for the quintet will hold a special meeting at the "Baseball Smokery," 11 1/2 E. Main St., at 6:30 o'clock Tuesday night.

The team will be a road team, playing out-of-town games and the cage squad expects to begin practice within a week. Basketball teams desiring games are requested to communicate with Manager "Irish" Greller at the "Baseball Smokery."

Included in the lineup of the quintet will be a number of former Dayton stars, among them "Chick" Harlow, former Steele High School athlete; Russ Shuey, who was a member of the Dayton Linden team that won the championship of the church league in that city a year or so ago; "Shug" Holland, "Nate" Bayless and others of equal ability.

Bowling Scores

The advantage of the Benrus Watch bowling quintet, leaders of the Recreation League, was reduced to one full game when the Red Wing Co. won the odd game in three from the league leaders, taking the third and deciding game by a margin of one pin, in a league match Monday night. Highley led the winners with a series of 552 while Malavazos topped the losers with a three-game total of 565. Box score:

MRS. MINNIE TOBIN DIES HERE TUESDAY

Mrs. Minnie Tobin, 52, passed away at her home at 12 Stelton Road, Tuesday morning at 10:30 o'clock as the result of complications. She had been in failing health for the last eight months.

Mrs. Tobin was born in Warren County, October 2, 1874 but had lived in this city twenty-five years. She is survived by her husband, Clinton Tobin, and two children by a former marriage, Terrell Johnson of Dayton, and Mrs. Eunice Monahan of Xenia and a brother, Thomas Hudgell of Xenia.

Funeral services will be held at the church Thursday afternoon at 2 o'clock with burial in Woodland Cemetery.

INVITATIONS TO WEDDING ARE STOLEN

FORTY wedding invitations belonging to Miss Helen Stewart, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. John A. Stewart, near Old Town, who is to be married at 8:30 o'clock Saturday morning, were stolen from a machine which was parked in front of Dr. Marshall Best's office, W. Main St., Monday afternoon, October 11, it has been learned.

Miss Elouise Stewart, sister of the bride-elect, had come to Xenia to mail the invitations and had stopped at the doctor's before going to the post office. Upon her return to the auto forty-five minutes later she discovered the loss.

The invitations were found by Mr. Lantz, Home Ave., Sunday night in weeds near the B. and O. Railroad. The package was unwrapped and the stamps were cut off all the invitations and many of them were ruined by the rain of Sunday.

THE TAX AMENDMENT. "The Home of Thrift". The rates of return on tangible and intangible property are determined by almost entirely different factors. In the one case, the operation of the laws of supply and demand are purely local; in the other, influences that are world-wide interfere to determine the result. Real estate and some other classes of tangible property cannot be removed to New York, and other outside real estate cannot be brought here to supply the demand, so that the holder of real estate is subject to local competition, only, and can demand a rental that will enable him to pay the tax and yet have a fair net return on his investment. The plight of money and intangibles is different. They may be here today and in New York tomorrow. If burdened here by a tax which their income does not justify, they will be sent where the taxing laws are more equitable, and that movement is now well under way. A law which exacts nearly, or altogether, one-half of incomes from investments cannot be enforced. The so-called "Uniform Rule" does that. People will not be content with a net yield which is less than that obtainable on Government Bonds. AMERICAN LOAN & SAVINGS ASS'N. AMERICAN SAVINGS BLDG. SOUTHEAST COR. MAIN AND THIRD STS. CAESAR CREEK

The honor roll for the first term is announced as follows: seniors—
Howard Bales, Guy Gravit, Helen
Carle, Helen Conklin, Demerius
Lewis, Letitia Owings, Mary Owings.

Juniors—Georgia Wolary, Elizabeth DeVoe, Jane Mussetter.
Sophomores—Walter Linton, Helen Stoops, Ada Stroup.

Freshmen—none.
The class officers elected by the members of the different classes this year are:

Seniors—President, Guy Gravit;
secretary-treasurer, Helen Conklin
Juniors—President, Margaret Pickering; secretary-treasurer, Irvin Swindler.

Sophomores—President, Walter
Linton; secretary-treasurer, Grace
Thomas.
Freshmen—President, Clara Middleton; secretary-treasurer, Violet Haines.

They walked slowly from the chapel hand in hand as they had walked from school years before when they were too young to worry about the fresher who chanted:

"Neil and Rosie are mushy!
They're gonna be married!"
Neil was at least ten before he stopping calling Rosie his girl, because every time he turned around he found their names coupled together with heart and arrows. By the time he was twelve he was becoming quite class conscious and his mother's frequent reference to the poverty of the March family and the affluence of the Cunningham family began to take hold.

After all, Mary Cunningham was very beautiful. A honey blonde, and the kindest dresser in town. So, quite suddenly Rosie was without her old playmate. For a time she hated Mary with all the pent up loneliness of her little heart.
Then, gradually it all passed away and in its place came a sort of worship of Mary's beauty and a heartfelt feeling because she could not copy her lovely clothes and risky manner.

It was early evening and Neil and Rosie drove silently through the June sunshine. To Rosie the little red roadster was a chariot and Neil all that a princess might hope for by her side. She glanced cautiously from side to side now and then hoping that everyone saw her riding home with Neil and that they would notice that she was wearing a beautiful creamy white dress with darling pink rosebuds.

While the strike of theater musicians in Philadelphia, which threatened to spread to electricians, scene shifters and other stage workers, has been settled, Cincinnati legitimate houses are still dark.

A strike of stage workers in the Queen City, who wanted to be paid for weeks when the theaters were dark, has resulted in early seasonal bookings being cancelled and it looks like a dark season for theatergoers there with only the Stuart Walker Company furnishing a dramatic oasis in the playless desert.

Dayton, on the other hand, appears to be off on the right foot, with the Victory theater showing some of the best road attractions available.

Operation of the Dayton theater is reported frequently to be a precarious undertaking, with the theatricals, of course, are drawing immensely but there are still many people not entirely "sold" on the idea of outland movies.

There is a certain allure about the interior of a comfortable movie, with a silent picture on the screen and a good organist furnishing soothing melody. Being entertained in this manner was most effortless, to say the least, and undoubtedly still has its appeal. An inclination among patrons to attempt to compare a silent talkie revue with a legitimate musical revue on the stage, that is not to react to the benefit of the stage production and to the detriment of the talkie version, is not doing the talkies any good, then.

It took considerable thought on the part of the owners of the two new theaters, before a decision was reached to wire the houses for sound pictures was reached.

These men are in a growing industry, and while the returns have usually been adequate for the exhibitor, they have found it necessary to grow with the business, and they quickly passed when the talkie would sit on "undertaker".

It took considerable thought on the part of the owners of the two new theaters, before a decision was reached to wire the houses for sound pictures was reached.

These men are in a growing industry, and while the returns have usually been adequate for the exhibitor, they have found it necessary to grow with the business, and they quickly passed when the talkie would sit on "undertaker".

While the strike of theater musicians in Philadelphia, which threatened to spread to electricians, scene shifters and other stage workers, has been settled, Cincinnati legitimate houses are still dark.

A strike of stage workers in the Queen City, who wanted to be paid for weeks when the theaters were dark, has resulted in early seasonal bookings being cancelled and it looks like a dark season for theatergoers there with only the Stuart Walker Company furnishing a dramatic oasis in the playless desert.

Dayton, on the other hand, appears to be off on the right foot, with the Victory theater showing some of the best road attractions available.

Operation of the Dayton theater is reported frequently to be a precarious undertaking, with the theatricals, of course, are drawing immensely but there are still many people not entirely "sold" on the idea of outland movies.

There is a certain allure about the interior of a comfortable movie, with a silent picture on the screen and a good organist furnishing soothing melody. Being entertained in this manner was most effortless, to say the least, and undoubtedly still has its appeal. An inclination among patrons to attempt to compare a silent talkie revue with a legitimate musical revue on the stage, that is not to react to the benefit of the stage production and to the detriment of the talkie version, is not doing the talkies any good, then.

Although Mr. J. H. Bishop and family, formerly of N. Detroit St., have moved to Dayton, Mr. Bishop will continue as salesman for the Xenia nursery.

Mr. Ed Bowman, former Xenia boy, now a traveling salesman for the Scioto Supply Co. at Columbus, was a visitor in Xenia.

Mrs. F. K. Pattison has opened a studio adjoining the art gallery on E. Main St. and is receiving students in drawing.

Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wood and children arrived home from a trip to Ind., where they spent a week attending a family reunion at which thirty-two were present.

OSBORN YOUTH TRIP; EXPOSITION TRIP; CALF CLUB LEADER

As his reward for winning the 1929 dairy calf club championship of Ohio, Tom Ryburn, 13, of Osborn, is sharing in the sights and excitement attendant to the National Dairy Exposition at St. Louis, Mo., this week. Young Ryburn is one of seventeen farm lads brought to St. Louis by the Blue Valley Creamery Institute in recognition of outstanding leadership in calf club activities in their own states.

Ryburn is vice-president of his community 4-H organization, the Butter Bread Dairy Calf Club, and next year will be its leader. During his five years of club activities he has raised and shown dairy calves, and has fed and kept production and feed records on cows in milk as a part of his project work. His Holstein cow this year won first in its class and one of his calves took fifth prize in its class at the Ohio State Fair. Previously his cow placed first in the club classes as well as in the open class for aged cows at the Montgomery County Fair.

During the past five months his young cow produced 291 pounds of butterfat. To make this big production he provided plenty of alfalfa hay in its ration, and also corn silage. The grain ration was made up of 500 pounds of ground corn, 300 pounds ground oats, 200 pounds ground barley, 100 pounds cotton seed meal, and 100 pounds linseed oil meal, which he feeds in amounts varying with the cow's milk production.

DEATH CLAIMS MRS. EMMA MIDDLETON SUDDENLY MONDAY

Mrs. Emma C. Middleton, 79, widow of James W. Middleton, died unexpectedly at 12 o'clock Monday night at the home of her son, J. Raymond Middleton, at Middleton's Corner, south of Xenia.

Mrs. Middleton, who was the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob S. Peterson, was born in Clinton County December 22, 1849 and had lived in that vicinity, residing on the same farm, since her marriage which took place October 4, 1871. Her husband preceded her in death September 12, 1917.

She was a member of the Caesar-creek Grange and the Reformed Church at Maple Corner for many years until the congregation was disbanded, after which she became a member of the church of that denomination in Xenia.

Surviving are two sons, Orville P. Middleton, Wilmington Pike, and J. Raymond Middleton, at whose home she died; two brothers, Orville E. Peterson, Pamplin, Va., and Elmer of Lake Wales, Fla.; and three sisters, Mrs. Grace Colvin, Delaware, O.; Mrs. Alice McMillan, Wilmington; and Mrs. G. A. McKay, Xenia. Six grandchildren and one great grandchild also survive.

Funeral services will be announced later.

HIGH SCHOOL NOTES

The H-Y Club held its regular meeting Monday night, October 21 at 7:30. There were nineteen members present.

A vice president for the club was chosen. Roland Rice was elected after a short nominating session.

Kenneth Finlay, who has been absent for two consecutive meetings was dropped from membership.

The constitution for the club was then read and after some discussion those who are in charge of writing it were instructed to re-write it for the next meeting at which time it is to be approved or rejected.

The meeting was then moved to the gymnasium where initiation for eight new members was carried on.

OLD PHONE BOOK LISTS 270 SUBSCRIBERS

Miami Telephone Co., Directory Of 1893 Offers Quaint Instructions To Users; Brewery Listing Recalls Old Days.

A "flivver" telephone directory such as was the vogue in Ohio cities thirty-six years ago and which was the last word for Xenia patrons in 1893 has been unearthed at the Cleveland offices of The Ohio Bell Telephone Co., according to H. W. Cleaver, commercial manager here.

The old directory, issued by the Miami Telephone Co., August 1, 1893, is about one-third the size of the one in use at present and contains the names of 270 subscribers. Such simple and apparent listings as "Mayor's Office" and "Work House" appear on the narrow pages. Not a Z is recorded and during the last thirty-six years the influx of patrons with surnames starting with Z has not been tremendous as is shown by the fact that today there are only five.

Patrons of the early nineties are instructed to "stand with your lips four to eight inches from the transmitter and talk in an ordinary tone of voice. When through talking, hang up telephone, large end down, and give one quick, short ring. This is important, as your line may be reported busy unless this signal for disconnection is given."

The above quotation illustrates developments in telephone usage during the past thirty years. The introduction of the "common battery" system has abolished the necessity for ringing before and after the call is made, except in rural sections. Instructions now are to talk in an ordinary tone of voice with the lips not more than an inch from the transmitter.

Other instructions indicate the limited use of the telephone when the old directory was issued.

"Don't allow non-subscribers to use your telephone. It is unjust to other subscribers, impedes your service, and is a violation of your contract. Any person may, with the consent of the subscriber, use the telephone to call a doctor, or in case of fire or accident."

One brewery is listed, that of Hollenamp and Weddle, with the number 15. Not a single Jones appears on the pages. In fact, there is only one J listing and that is Jobe

Bros. and Co. The Smiths have only one representative, J. C. Smith of Osborn. Today, there are twenty-eight Jones and the Smiths number forty-four in Xenia alone. The first listing in the old directory was for Adams Express Co., while the last one was for the Yellow Springs Bank. Today, M. D. Abramowitz heads the list and the final listing for Xenia is Dr. W. C. Zell.

Xenia's telephonic growth may be observed by a comparison in the number of telephones when the diminutive directory was issued and the number in the city today. Today there are 2590 as compared with 210 thirty-six years ago.

Among those listed in the old directory who are now residents or firms of Xenia are: Fred Baldwin, Dr. A. D. DeHaven, Dr. W. A. Galloway, G. J. Graham, John A. North, Dr. B. R. McClellan, Daniel Steele, Babb's Hardware, Eavey and Co., Fetz Bros., Hooven and Allison Co., Hutchison and Gibney, Jobe Bros., Wilberforce University, and the Xenia Gazette.

LOAN RESOURCES IN STATE INCREASED

An increase of $108,896,674.57 in building and loan resources in Ohio during the last fiscal year is noted in the annual report of John W. Prugh, state superintendent of building and loan associations and former mayor of Xenia, just filed with Governor Myers Y. Cooper.

Exceeded only in 1924 when resources increased $117,145,000 this

STOP BAD BREATH

Thousands of people afflicted with bad breath find quick relief through Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets. The pleasant, sugar-coated tablets are taken for bad breath by all who know. Dr. Edwards Olive Tablets act gently but firmly on the bowels and liver, stimulating them to natural action, clearing the blood and gently purifying the entire system. They do that which dangerous calomel does without any of the bad after effects. Olive Tablets brings no gripping pain or any disagreeable effects.

Dr. F. M. Edwards discovered the formula after 20 years of practice among patients afflicted with bowel and liver complaint, with the attendant bad breath.

Olive Tablets are purely a vegetable compound; you will know by their olive color. Take nightly for a week and note the effect. 15c, 30c, 60c.
